No. 97. From the Under Secretary to the Government of India in the Financial Department, to the Accountant-General, Bengal, dated Fort William, 16th January 1872, No. 278:—

Leave and Allowances.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letters,* No. 4742-T, of the 29th September 1871, and No. 6620-T, of the 14th ultimo, and, in reply, to state that a Sub-Assistant Surgeon appointed to officiate for, or do the duties of a Civil Surgeon, is entitled to an allowance of Rupees 150 a month if he be a Sub-Assistant Surgeon of the first or second grade, or Rupees 100 a month if he be a Sub-Assistant Surgeon of the third grade, but he must forfeit the Punjab allowance of Rupees 50 if he has it; that a Regimental Surgeon is entitled to an extra allowance of Rupees 100 a month for the additional charge of a civil station, and that local allowances for the charge of Lunatic Asylums, Colleges, &c., should continue to be passed to the officer who is actually in medical charge of a civil station.

[* Printed below.]

From the Officiating Accountant-General, Bengal, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department, dated 29th September 1871, No. 4742-T.

I have the honour to request the favour of being informed what acting allowance, if any, should be passed to a Sub-Assistant Surgeon or to an Army Surgeon attached to a Regiment for discharging temporarily the medical duties of a civil station during the absence of a Civil Surgeon or in consequence of a vacancy.

2. It is provided generally in Section XXXIV. of the Acting Allowance Code that "an officer appointed, without being relieved of his own duties, to be in charge of the current duties of an office is not ordinarily entitled to acting allowance," and the only exceptions to this rule which are specially provided for are judicial offices and gazetted appointments in the Police Department. Hitherto, under orders of the Home Department, dated 1st October 1859, an allowance of Rupees 150 a month for the charge has, under the orders stated, been passed to a Sub-Assistant Surgeon of the first or second class, and Rupees 100 to a Sub-Assistant Surgeon of the third class, while a Regimental Surgeon has drawn Rupees 100 a month under General Order, No. 370, dated 4th April 1867. All local allowances for the charge of Lunatic Asylum, College, &c., have also been passed to the officer actually in charge of the civil station, and they may, I conclude, continue to be admitted with reference to Clause 6, Section 1, of the Covenanted Leave Code.

From the Officiating Accountant-General, Bengal, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department, dated 14th December 1871, No. 6620-T.

I have the honour to request to be informed what allowances should be passed to a Sub-Assistant Surgeon on his appointment to officiate as Civil Medical Officer of a Sadr station. A case has just occurred in which a Sub-Assistant Surgeon of the third grade, recently returned from leave to England without pay, has been appointed to officiate as a Civil Medical Officer in Bengal during the absence of the permanent incumbent on medical leave, and it is not clear at what rate his allowances should be calculated.

2. Under Financial orders of the 16th February 1869, No. 909, an Apothecary or other medical subordinate officiating in the medical charge of a first or second class station is restricted to an extra allowance of Rupees 100 a month, in addition to the pay and allowances of his rank, but the case of a Sub-Assistant Surgeon similarly situated is not provided for by any orders of which I am aware.
