Proceedings of the Madras Government, Financial Department,

25th March 1872.

Read again Proceedings of Government, dated 23rd January 1872, No. 85.

No. 258. Read also the following Memorandum from the Chief Engineer, Department of Public Works, on the Proceedings of Government in the Judicial Department, dated 23rd January 1872, No. 85.

I understand Captain Morant's estimate of the present value of the jail to be a fair calculation in reference to the original cost and present condition of the structure, while Major Hankin's lower value is determined by a consideration of what the old materials would fetch if sold in the bazaar. The latter is obviously inconsistent in principle, for the jail is of real value in its present condition to either party, and worth more than the bazaar price of old material. I am of opinion that Captain Morant's valuation is fair and should be accepted.
