Resolution.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to rule that, as a general principle, the pay of a covenanted medical officer shall be debited to the department in which he is employed. If he is employed on any duty chargeable to the Imperial revenue, his salary shall be charged to that revenue ; and, likewise, if on any provincial duty paid from Provincial funds, his salary shall be charged to those funds.

2. Should it, however, be found necessary in any province to employ additional medical officers on any duty properly chargeable to Provincial funds, such as the Burdwan fever relief measures, but for which a special grant has been, or may be, made from the Imperial revenue, then the salaries of the extra medical officers so employed may be charged to this grant.

Ordered, also, that a copy of the Resolution be sent to the several Local Governments and Administrations, the Comptroller-General, and the several Accountants-General and Deputy Accountants-General, for information and guidance.
