I go to the fact that there are old local rate voluntary schools under Act VI of 1863. Maintenance of the villages who under that Act were their own school boards assessors stop collection - ~~the~~ being aided under the rules Can any more generous condemnation of an education
- and being in instance than this? The village ^{now} repudiate them even with the parents - and and the L. 7 Board propose - in order to save them no doubt, to add them and throw the whole expense on the General taxation - relieving parents practically of all obligation I cannot look at this without with great regret upon them result. The schools are properly maintained a voluntary school rate. For this the tax was substituted. Its suspension has led to disaster. I think that it were well not considering either in such cases as these the law should take its course & the House tax be revised as a special case

The mixed system will not answer here - because the total grant will not exceed the total now received viz Rs 280. The fact, I imagine, is that the boys are thorough bastards and the master cannot earn enough to live on his pocket - while the parents will not pay - but as I said before support them out of local funds & altogether.
