From F. BRANDT, Esq., District Judge, Trichinopoly, to the Officiating Chief Secretary to Government, dated Trichinopoly, 4th July 1881, No. 203 [Current No. 1718].

I have the honor to state that the red ink made of ingredients suggested by Dr. Bidie is not fit for use: the ink is not red at all but like weak claret and water, and is hardly visible after a few moments.

2. I request that I may be allowed to make use of red ink made of fuschine, and that the Superintendent of Stationery may be directed to send me a few ounces of fuschine, or that I may be permitted to purchase it in the local market.

ORDER THEREON, 11th July 1881, No. 1282.

The District Judge of Trichinopoly is authorised to purchase fuschine in the local market if not procurable from the Superintendent of Stationery, who should keep a sufficient quantity of the aniline for supply to all offices other than those of Account.
