Note.

In 1875, when he was Asst. Commr. of Krishna, Mr. R. Sewell evinced some interest in Archaeological operations and volunteered his services for making certain excavations and explorations of Buddhist remains at Amaravati and other places in the district and requested the sanction of Govt to spend Rs 1000 on the work.

The Govt of India, to whom the proposal was sub^d by this Govt, in sanctioning the scheme as well as the amount to be spent thereon, said that Mr Sewell should proceed in the manner indicated by General Cunningham, or Genl of Archaeological Survey in India, in his letter No 295 & 6 March 1876.

From May 1876 to July 1877 Mr Sewell was, in addition to his ordinary duties, engaged in making excavations &c, and in December 1877 the first report on the results of his operations was submitted to Govt. This report was confined to the cave at Undavilli opposite Bezvada, the Bezvada antiquities and the Buddhist remains.

in the neighbourhood, Mr Sewell being not able to devote much attention then to Amaravati. A supplement to the first report was also published early in 1881 when he was Asstt G.O. of 16-2-81, No 212. to the Collector of Chingleput.

In the meantime, in July 1877, Mr. Sewell went to England on three months' privilege leave and, while there, he wrote a letter to Col Yule of the India Office representing what he had done in Kistna and making certain suggestions for conducting an Archaeological survey of the portion of the Madras Presidency about the Kistna and Godavari rivers. The Secy of State in forwarding this communication to the Govt of India remarked, that, though immediate attention could not be paid to Mr Sewell's proposals owing to the depression caused by famine in Southern India at that time, it was a matter for consideration whether, in the event of any Archaeological operations being undertaken, the direction thereof might not be advantageously entrusted to Mr Sewell himself.

On the lapse of more than an year after the receipt of the above correspondence, this Govt addressed the Govt of India requesting them to revive the sanction (temporarily suspended on account of the pressure of famine) for the appointment of a special officer on Rs 1200 with sub Collector's tentage to superintend the survey and stating that an officer (Mr S) who had shown great aptitude for the work and who knew the languages of Southern India was then available.

India accorded their sanction in March 1879 subject to certain conditions, but Mr Sewell's appointment was actually delayed till the beginning of 1881. Meanwhile he went home on furlough in 1879 and during his stay ~~in England~~ ^{there} arranged with the Secretary of State for India to have his report on the "Amaravati Topo and excavations on its site in 1877" printed in England. In Sept 1880 copies of this work were forwarded to this Govt by the Secy of State who considered the production to be one of great value and interest and carefully and diligently prepared.

In 1881 he entered upon his special duty in which he continued till about the middle of 1882. His immediate duties were to "draw up sketch lists and to obtain translations of the known inscriptions and known monumental antiquities of the Presidency showing generally for the whole area what there is and where it is to be found and thus prepare the way for a more detailed survey".

During the time he was employed on this work he also prepared a set of Chronological tables showing, for 1300 years in parallel columns, the corresponding Salivahana, Saka, Kalijuga and cyclic years, the Kollam Adu or Era of Zuilon, the Christian year and the year of Hijra.

By the time Mr Sewell was appointed Sub Secretary to the Board of Revenue (June 1882) he had almost finished the first volume of Antiquities and as ~~it~~ regard the second one he hoped to complete it before long by working at it in leisure hours. This hope was not however realized and he was placed on special duty again for 3 months from Jan'y 1883 during which he passed through his second volume with the exception of the Chronological section.

In 1883 Mr Sewell also published a Sketch of the Dynasties in Southern India and in 1884 he compiled a list of ancient monuments and inscriptions to be selected for conservation in the Madras Presidency.

On the representation of the High Court the Government in 1883 supported the publication by W. Krishnaswami Naidu ^{an interpreter of the Court} of a set of improved chronological tables.

These were completed in 1888 when Mr Sewell, who had already had a hand in their preparation, said that 50 copies of the tables might be struck off and 12 copies thereof sent to Dr Burgess for check and correction.

Krishnaswami Naidu's tables were, however, criticized by Fleet in the 'Indian Antiquary' and at the suggestion of Mr Sewell the Govt requested Dr Hultzsch, Dr Burgess and Mr Rea to express an opinion about the tables. On the receipt of replies from these gentlemen who agreed with Mr Sewell as to the method of correction to be adopted, he was entrusted with the work of editing and revising the tables.

^{revised} The tables were ready for the Press last year, but Mr Sewell went home on furlough in May last requesting that he might be allowed to get the book printed in England instead of at the Govt Press, Madras. But this question has not yet been finally settled as will be seen from File 50.

453- + 710 Mis of 1894.

Besides the works above enumerated Mr Sewell is the author of several others a list of which will be found on page 38 of the History of the services of gazetted officers. (put up)

He has also written short notes on the following interesting discoveries in Archaeology:-

| 4. Carved Stone of the Ramareddi Hill | 4-3-87 .. 316. |

On Archaeological matters Mr. Sewell is of course considered an authority and any important scheme that is subd. to Govt for approval is generally referred to him for an expression of opinion enquiring

From Dr. E. HULTZSCH, Government Epigraphist, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Bangalore, 14th December 1895, No. 512.

With reference to memorandum, No. 2964, Financial, dated the 12th instant, I have the honour to submit that I have tested Mr. Sewell's new Chronological Tables according to the method which he calls C (see page 74 ff of the Introduction), and that I consider his work very excellent and important, as it represents the first successful solution of the problem to enable a non-astronomer to convert any Hindu date into the corresponding Christian date by a simple arithmetical process. All students of Indian Epigraphy will be delighted with this publication which reflects the greatest credit on Mr. Sewell and on his Collaborator, the great Hindu Astronomer Mr. S. B. Dikshit. The surest proof of the trustworthiness of the tables is the fact, alluded to by Mr. Sewell in paragraph 7 of his letter, that Professor Kielhorn has tested them and is satisfied with them. I hope that the Government will be pleased to patronize the work, and request that two copies of it might be furnished for the use of this office.

2. Mr. Sewell's letter is returned herewith, and the proofs by separate parcel.

ORDER—No. 1047, Financial, dated 21st December 1895.

Mr. R. Sewell will be informed that the Government will purchase 200 copies of his work on Indian Chronology entitled "The Indian Calendar."

2. His Excellency the Governor in Council, in congratulating Mr. Sewell on the completion of his book takes the opportunity which it affords of acknowledging the valuable services rendered for many years by him in connection with the Archaeology of this Presidency and the unwearied energy which he has brought to bear upon this task.

3. The copies of the calendar will, on receipt, be distributed as shown in the appendix to these proceedings.
