ENCLOSURES.

DESPATCH from the Right Hon'ble Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, dated India Office, London, 26th July 1894, No. 35, Public (Records).

DESPATCH from the Government of India, Home Department (Public-Books), to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, dated Calcutta, the 13th March 1895, No. 14 of 1895.

We have the honour to invite a reference to your despatches, No. 35, Public (Records), dated 26th July 1894, and No. 42, Public (Records), dated 27th September 1894, on the subject of the distribution to the British Museum and other Copyright Libraries in England of official publications from India.

2. In the former of these despatches it was requested that whenever less than ten copies of any publication are sent home to the India Office, an extra copy might be added for the British Museum, and with the despatch of 27th September last a statement was forwarded of the numbers of certain official publications to be despatched to you for the use of the India Office and for distribution to Copyright Libraries.

3. These instructions appear to conflict with the orders issued by us to Local Governments and Administrations in accordance with the suggestions contained in your predecessor's despatches marginally noted, in which we have requested that official publications intended for persons and institutions in England and abroad should, unless any material saving in expense is secured by sending them in a box-packet to London for distribution, be forwarded by book-postage direct to the addressees.

4. We shall therefore be glad to be informed whether you desire that the copies of publications intended for the Copyright Libraries should be sent through the India Office instead of direct in the manner contemplated by our orders of 26th March last.

DESPATCH from the Right Honourable Mr. H. H. FOWLER, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General of India in Council, dated India Office, London, the 6th June 1895, No. 33, Public (Records).

In reply to your letter, Home (Public), No. 14, dated 13th March 1895, on the subject of the distribution of official publications to the British Museum and other Copyright Libraries, I have to inform Your Excellency that the instructions contained in my despatch of the 26th July 1894, No. 35, therein referred to, were issued in consequence of a special request from the authorities of the British Museum that all official publications intended for their use should be forwarded through this office. It will be necessary, therefore, to modify the previous orders issued by your Government so far as the British Museum is concerned; but no alteration seems called for in the case of the other Copyright Libraries, which appear to be satisfied with the arrangements now in force.

In their resolution of the 26 March '94 the G. of S.
directed that publications intended for distribution in England and abroad should be sent direct by post to the addressee unless any material loss in expense is secured by forwarding them in a practice of direct distribution has since been followed, and, in cases where less than 10 copies were sent to the Index office, 1 copy was posted to the British Museum

e.g. the Medical College

Calendar, the manual of resolution printed in G.O.

584 Fial. of 27. 5. 92, two copies of such publications had to be forwarded to the India Office, one of which was intended for the British Museum.

After the receipt of the orders regarding direct distribution 1 copy was sent to the India Office
& the other to British Museum direct.

The G.O. of 1 now made by their orders about direct distribution as far as the British Museum is concerned accordance with the

Secy. of State's despatch
No. 33 of 6. 6. 95 (Encls.

Resolution—

In his despatch of the 18th May 1893, cited in the preamble, the Secretary of State called attention to the fact that certain packages, small enough for transmission by post, which contained official publications intended for distribution in England and abroad, had been forwarded to the India Office for distribution, and suggested that in future only publications too heavy for post should be sent through that office, and that in other cases the practice of direct distribution by post should be adopted as far as practicable.

2. In view of the reduction of book postage the Government of India have accepted the above suggestion, and the following orders are hereby laid down in supersession of the previous orders on the subject :—

- I.—Publications which can be sent by book postage should be forwarded direct to the addressees, and not through the India Office, unless any material saving in expense is secured by sending them in a box packet to London for distribution.
- II.—No publication should be forwarded direct to any addressee so that it can reach its destination before a copy has been received in the India Office.
- III.—In all cases in which the method of direct distribution is adopted, a list of the persons and institutions so supplied should be forwarded promptly to the Secretary of State.

Order—

Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, to the * Department, and to the Superintendent Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India for information and guidance.

Referring to the Earl of Kimberley's despatch, No. 15, of the 25th February 1885, I have to inform your Excellency that the numbers of copies of reports, &c., now regularly sent home by your Government is, in some instances, found to be in excess of actual requirements, and I have therefore to request that the numbers despatched for the use of this office may in future be regulated according to the figures shown in the enclosed statement.

ENCLOSURE.

MEMORANDUM.

From time to time it has been customary to review the supply of official reports sent to this country from India, with the view of making such alterations in the quantities received as may seem desirable, and, where possible, of reducing their numbers, with the view of effecting savings both in space and cost of freight. Alterations and reductions were thus made in 1885 and in 1889.

After a careful consideration of the subject, I am of opinion that further reductions may now be made both in the numbers of certain reports sent home as well as in the numbers kept in stock.

The following statement shows (1) the numbers of various reports, &c., now received, (2) the numbers distributed in this office and outside, and (3) the numbers proposed to be asked for in future :—

Nature of paper.	1	2	3
	Numbers received.	Numbers distributed including office supply.	Numbers to be demanded in future for office use and for distribution to copyright libraries.

* The surplus copies are required for sale to the public.

Besides the above the annual departmental reports are received in varying quantities from the different Presidencies. The following list shows (1) the numbers now distributed, including those for office use, and (2) the numbers proposed to be received in future. These latter show very considerable reductions in some cases on those now received :—

I come next to the reports and documents kept in stock. Experience of the last few years has shown that the numbers of these may be considerably reduced, and a large amount of storage space be thus made available for other records. These must be dealt with seriatim :—

1. Geological Survey Reports.—There are a large number of these reports for past years in store, for which there is no demand, and to keep them here only involves a great waste of space. It is proposed, in the first instance, to inform the Government of India what number of reports for former years we possess, and enquire whether they should be sent back to India.

2. Trigonometrical Survey Reports.—There are also a number of these reports in store for which there is no demand. These should be dealt with in the same manner as the Geological Survey Reports.

3. Administration Reports of the several Presidencies.—It is proposed to reduce the number of copies kept in the Record Department from 3 to 2, to keep 5 copies in store for 5 years, and to destroy all left in store over five years old, with the exception of the decennial reports, the remaining stock of which might be destroyed with the exception of the last received.

4. Departmental Administration Reports.—Two records sets only to be kept instead of three as heretofore, and all the surplus stock of reports over five years old to be destroyed.

5. Legislative Council's Proceedings.—Beyond two record sets, the remaining stock to be destroyed with the exception of those for the last five years.

6. Annual Trade and Navigation Accounts.—
7. Finance and Revenue Statistics.—
8. Madras Sanitary Commissioner's Proceedings.—

Of these keep two records sets and destroy the surplus stock of all over five years old.
9. Selections from Despatches.—Sets of these selections are kept in each department and in every Member of Council's room. Altogether 32 copies are distributed in the office, and 3 are sent to the Viceroy. Formerly 40 copies only were printed, but this was increased to 50 in 1882. The number distributed has, however, not increased. It is proposed for the future to print only 35 copies, and to destroy all the surplus stock of former years.

ORDER—dated 14th November 1894, No. 988, Financial.

The despatch from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State will be communicated to the Departments of the Secretariat and the Superintendent, Government Press, for careful observance of the instructions contained therein.

2. The number of copies of the various reports mentioned in the despatch is exclusive of the two advance copies which are forwarded to the India Office.
