GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS

Byculla, 22nd. February 1898.

The Superintendent,

Bombay Education Society's Press.

The Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras.

Sir,

Referring to your letter No. 1468, dated the 1st. November 1897, addressed to Lt Col. R. C. Temple, I have the honour to state that we found we advised Col. Temple incorrectly as to the net cost of the book "Devil Worship of the Iduwas". The printing (including the five plates (10 coloured illustrations) cost rupee one for each set, so that the net cost has come to Rupees 200 for the 100 copies, and not Rs. 100 as was previously advised. On representation in this matter to Col. Temple, he directed us to ascertain if your Government would be pleased, under the circumstances, to accept the 100 copies without plates for Rupees 100 or 100 copies with plates for Rupees 200.

An early reply will oblige

I have the honour to

Sir,

Your most obedient servant

J. A. Fairfield, Esq.

Supdt., B.E.S. - 7-9-97

NOTE FOR THE C. A.

In July 1893, Col. Temple wrote to ask if Govt. would take any copies of a book on the "Devil Worship of the Taluvars" which he intended publishing; and on being asked for definite information as to the probable cost of the book he replied as follows:

fo. No 749 Jul 29. 8.93 C

C. No 2385 of 1893 B

"I can supply 100 copies to the Govt. at one rupee per copy, in Coloured paper binding, and ten Coloured plates, of not less than 100 copies each ordered." He went further and added that "the plates, under the conditions in which the book will be printed, will practically make no difference in the cost." On this, the Govt. ordered ~~for~~ 100 copies of the work.

fo. No 946 Jul 27. 9.93 E

In September last, however, the Bombay Education Society's Press (the publishers of the book), sent 100 copies of the book without plates and forwarded a bill ^{charging} for Rs 100 from the book.

Enquiries were, accordingly, made of Col: Temple as to the plates he had promised, to which he replied ^{that} he was writing to the B.E. S. Press about them. In the present present Current, the B.E. S. Press state that they were mistaken in the estimate they had originally furnished to Col: Temple, and that each copy of with plates costs Rs 2 instead of Rs 1.

Col: Temple's promises were definite and it will be seen ^{from C. No 2222 of 1893} further that, before making such definite promises, he made careful and detailed enquiries of the B.E. S. Press. The Press now say they were mistaken in their original estimate by one half and propose that Govt: should either retain the copies without plates & pay Rs 100, or order for the plates also and pay Rs 200.
