8. As regards additional accommodation for records, I find that applications for extension of the existing buildings have been received so far from sixty four offices, and more would have been received if I had not sent round a Circular calling for the opinion of the District Registrars regarding the construction of record racks suggested in my letter of the 10th September 1897 already referred to. If this proposal is approved, the cost of these extensions would be saved, while at the same time, the record accommodation would be increased twofold at less than half the cost required for additional almirahs. In the Budget for 1898-99, I provided Rs.10,000 for the construction of these racks, but the amount was reduced by Government to Rs.5,000. I request that Government will be pleased to reconsider the question and sanction the construction of the record racks in all offices in which the existing accommodation is found to be insufficient. This will enable them to utilize the existing almirahs for other offices where they are urgently required and where sufficient room is available for them. A sum of Rs.6,000 and more is annually expended in making fresh almirahs, but pending the disposal of the

I have postponed the supply of these almirahs to several offices. I beg, therefore, that early orders may be passed on the subject. In small offices, the rack will be 15 feet long; in larger offices, it might be made in two blocks, each 10 feet long, in the case of second class offices, and 12 feet long in first class offices. The breadth will be the same in all cases, viz., 5 feet, while the height will depend upon the height of the roof.

C.S.

In the budget estimate for the current year submitted by the I. G. of Registration last September, he provided Rs 10,000 for the purchase of record racks. The amount was reduced to Rs 5,000 or Rs 2,000 in excess of the grant for 1897-98 (para 4 of G.O. No. 957 Fmt: 7/19. 11. 97). The Judicial Dept. has approved of the scheme. I.G.'s proposal to substitute racks for almirahs in the record rooms of the Registration Dept. and has requested the Financial Dept. to consider the question of providing the additional allotment required for the purpose. The expenditure on Record racks Boarded in the Registration Dept. in 1896-97 was Rs 579 (para 71 of the C. B. S.) so that the I. G. has a provision of Rs 4,500 or in this normal expenditure to meet this unusual outlay this year. The I. G. states however that the annual expenditure on almirahs is Rs 6,000 & that he has postponed the supply of ~~the~~ almshouses ~~pending~~ to several offices pending the disposal of the question of racks, which has now been decided.

It was originally thought that the I. J. might be given an additional Rs 3,000 from the amount which Revenue is going to surrender from the provision under Local for meeting raising the pay of karnams and the current has been held over pending the surrender of the amount. But it is submitted that a large scheme like this should be introduced gradually and that the I. J. should first see how far his allotment for the current year will go. Our finances are not in such a state as to admit of anything but

Order No 668, dt 4th August 1898

The I. J. of Registration will be requested to report whether the ^{scheme for the} supply of record racks to Registration Office cannot be introduced gradually so as to admit of the grant for the current year (Rs 5000) covering expenditure up to the 1st April 1899. If such a plan is not practicable, the I. J. is requested to report whether there will be savings under other heads in his budget, which could be re-appropriated for the purchase of record racks. In any case the expenditure must for the present be restricted to the grant.
