Additions to Appendix A

of the Stationery Rules.

NOTE

Hitherto the Stationery Office has been supplying the Chief Secretary with Red ruling ink - but as, in Appendix A, page 19, of the Stationery Rules, the Govt. Press only is entered as entitled to the supply of this ink, the Stationery office has disallowed this item in the Annual Indent for Stationery for this office. In disallowing this supply the Superintendent of Stationery asks that if the ink is necessary it may be authorised to pass the item to include the supply in the Stationery Rules.

2. The ink intended for general supply is fuchsine - a very inferior ink which after some time turns pink colour. Owing to fuchsine not having given satisfactory results, the Supdt. of Stationery is making inquiry as regards a better substitute. A G.O. No. 621 Finl., d/20-5-99 he was directed to continue his inquiry. All Account Offices are supplied with superior red ink - Blackwood's. The G.O. quoted above Blackwood's ink is to be gradually substituted by a still better sort of ink.

3. Submitted that Secretariat Offices should be supplied with thing better than fuchsine and that the Supdt. of Stationery be authorised to include the supply of ruling red ink (which has been in use in the Chief Secretariat for some time) in Appendix A of the Stationery rules.

4. Another item the supply of which the Supdt. of Stationery asks permission to add to the Stationery rules is Long Cloth. This has been hitherto supplied but according to the Stationery rules the supply is restricted to the Public Works and Survey Departments and the Government Press (Appendix A of the rules page 24). Long Cloth is required for use in this office as pen-wipers.

Submitted that the Superintendent may be authorised to add this article for supply to the Chief Secretariat. Debt

5. The supply of ink and pencil erasers has also been disallowed and the Supdt. asks permission to include the article it in the Stationery Rules. These erasers are supplied to ~~Members of~~ ~~Govt.~~ Chief Secretary, Under Secretary and Assistants. Under the rules (page 23 Appendix A) the supply is restricted to the Public Works and Survey Departments and the Garrison Instructor. Submitted that the Superintendent may be authorised to include this article for supply to all Secretariat departments.

Note

There is no objection to the Superintendent of Stationery being authorised to supply the "red ink for ruling" ~~and the pencil ink and pencil erasers~~ to all Secretariat Depts. and long cloth to the Chief Secretariat as suggested in the foregoing note. A draft order is submitted for approval.
