the savings contemplated under certain heads, he was prepared to allow those savings to be devoted to strengthening the establishments most in need of assistance.

3. A further application was made in our Despatch No. 19, dated the 24th January 1888, but the Secretary of State (Viscount Cross), in his Despatch No. 53 (Revenue), dated the 3rd May 1888, expressed himself as averse from considering it until he was better acquainted with the financial position of the Presidency and the relations between the Imperial and Provincial Governments. With their Despatch No. 69 (Financial), dated the 18th March 1890, the Government of India again submitted to the Secretary of State proposals from the Government of Madras. These, however, related only to so much of the scheme as was directed to strengthening the staff and improving the pay of Revenue Inspectors at an additional cost of Rs. 1,20,000 per annum. The Local Government stated that they had selected the measure then advocated from other desirable reforms as an improvement urgently needed in all districts, which would meet the most pressing want of the province. In his telegram of the 20th April 1890 the Secretary of State communicated his sanction, and this portion of the scheme has been introduced.

4. In 1896, the Madras Government re-submitted proposals for the improvement of the position of the Taluk Gomasthas, involving an additional expenditure of Rs 92,610 per annum. A proposition statement was required, which the Local Government were asked to submit. The Madras Government have accordingly with their letter No. 628, dated the 28th October 1898, forwarded revised proposals with a complete proposition statement, involving a total additional expenditure of Rs. 1,04,034 a year. We have carefully considered these proposals which are somewhat less expensive than the proposals made under the same head in 1886. The slight increase in the strength of the establishments and the improvement in pay and prospects which are now proposed have long been considered essential and we concur in the opinion expressed by the Local Government that they can no longer be postponed without serious detriment to the public interests. We therefore recommend the proposals of the Government of Madras for Your Lordship's sanction.

We have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servants,
