NOTE FOR THE C. A

C. No. 3826

The estimates relating to 24 Medical accepted in G.O. No 1246 Financial Har dated 17th December 1898 stand as shown below:-

	Budget Estimate for 1899-1900	Revised Estimate for 1898-99
24 B	Rs 600000	262 300
24 A	43000	21200

Deducting the amounts provided (1) for the pay and allowances of special plague officers (2) for the purchase of tents (3) for contributions to private hospitals and (4) for lump allotments for the districts not under observation, which do not form part of the Surgeon General's estimate.

the total amount comes to

	Budget Estimate for 1899-1900	Revised Estimate for 1898-99
24 B	256 880	172 690
24 A	43000	21200
	299 880	193 890
or	300000	194000

in round figures

The estimates submitted by the Surgeon General

stand as shown below:-

	Budget Estimate for 1899-1900	R.E. for 1898-99
24 B	231243	70000
24 A	75456	21200
	306699	91200

The Surgeon General does not furnish particulars for his revised estimate for the current year and it is not clear how his figures have been arrived at.

at. So far as the budget estimates for the next year are concerned there is not much difference between the figures accepted in G.O. No. 1246 Financial dated 17th December 1898 and those now furnished by the Surgeon General.

The following differences are, however, observed in the compilation of the estimates:-

(1) The estimates in G.O. 1246 Financial dated 17th December 1898 provide for existing establishments but the Surgeon General's estimates are based upon the Collectors' figures which provide for the establishments which are likely to be entertained next year. No provision is made for next year on account of the pay of Major F.C. Reeves in our estimates but the Surgeon General has provided for his pay for the whole of next year.

(2) Our estimates provide for ten addl. doctors who were on their way from England. But no provision has been made for them by the S. G.

(3) Provision has been made in our estimates for the enhanced pay of Rs 600 for seven doctors who were to draw that pay from 15th 1899.

When
When
When
When

R.R.A.

November 1898 - Only three officers on Rs 600 are shown in the S. G.'s estimates.

(4) Slight differences are observed in the figures under "Contingencies".

The current may, it is submitted, be recorded.
