Simla, the 31st July 1919.

SIR,

I am directed to refer to the Home Department letter no. 2287-2299, dated the 28th October 1914, regarding the scheme for the encouragement of officers to undertake courses of legal study while on leave in England and to say that the question has been raised whether an officer studying in Dublin for a call to the Irish Bar by the Honourable Society of King's Inns, Dublin, would be entitled to the concessions announced in the rules forwarded with the letter.

2. The rules as they stand at present apply only to officers studying at one of the Inns of Court in England. It is believed, however, that, for the officers to whom the scheme applies, the course of study prescribed for the Irish Bar will be as useful as that for the English Bar; and, if this is the case, there seems to be no reason why the rules should not be amended so as to allow officers who take the former course to benefit from the concessions. Before they approach the Secretary of State, however, the Government of India would be glad to be furnished with the views of His Excellency the Governor in Council on the subject after consultation with the High Court.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

Offg. Addl. Under Secretary to the Government of India.
