13 Mr. Strange, however, dissents from these views, regarding the system as a salutary one and capable of improvement in some such way as is described at the close of the 2nd para of this letter. From the correspondence before him he does not find the opinions of those Judicial Officers who are of opinion that the system of refund largely encourages false litigation, to rest upon any other than conjectural grounds; and he considers that it would be highly inexpedient to abandon an enactment of a salutary description, because of the possibility that it is at times made an instrument of abuse.

No. 14. Order passed, 24th June 1853, No. 872.

Communicated to the Commissioner for enquiring into the Judicial system of the Madras Presidency, for their information.

(Signed) T. PYCROFT,
Chief Secretary.
