Proceedings of the Madras Government, Judicial Department,

1st June 1860.

No. 13. Read the following letter from Mr. J. HIGGINBOTHAM, to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George, dated 28th May 1860.

I beg to forward herewith for submission to Government, the accompanying copy of a new Edition of Macnaghten's Principles and Precedent of Mahomedan Law, which I have just published.

It is well known that this valuable work was quite out of print, and that copies of the first Edition could scarcely be procured at any price; but considering the animated and wide-spread interest which now invests the subject of Hindoo and Mahomedan Law, I have been induced, as in the case of Strange's Hindoo Law, to bring out a new Edition of Macnaghten's book.

No expense has been spared to secure for this Edition that careful editorial revision, which by bringing down the illustration of Macnaghten's Principles to the present day, will not only enhance the original value of the work, but must render the present Edition the standard Text Book on the subject.

From the scarcity of the first edition, I am led to believe, that but few of the Mofussil Courts are provided with this work; and from the absence of any other Publication containing in a collected form the Precedents that have arisen since the first Edition was given to the public, I feel persuaded that no more valuable guide on the subject, than the present Edition, can be placed in the hands of the Law Officers of Government.

Under these circumstances, I most respectfully solicit the liberal patronage of Government, and confidently hope, that my endeavour to rescue from oblivion so valuable a work as that under notice, will not go unappreciated.

The price of the work is Rupees 20 per copy.

MOUNT ROAD, MADRAS, 20th May, 1860.

THE undersigned, in announcing that he has just published the Second Edition of Macnaghten's Moohummudan Law, feels persuaded that the project will meet with the approval and support of the Public.

The work, although in high esteem as the chief authority on the question, has for many years become alike scarce and costly, and it may be safely affirmed that Macnaghten's "Principles" will continue to be the safest guide for all Judicial Officers, so long as the Mahomedan Law is administered in British India.

The very general and unanimous testimony thus practically borne to the merits of this work has proved reason enough to prevail with the Publisher to give the Public the benefit of a new and comparatively inexpensive edition which, being carefully edited with notes and other additions, brings down the illustration of Macnaghten's Principles to the present day.

The Publisher trusts that his endeavour to place within the reach of ordinary means, a work which is now scarcely procurable at any price; aided by the at present enlightened enquiry into the "reason why" of the acts of all in authority, and the increased desire to understand the basis upon which individual rights are established, will ensure for his new edition of the work that reciprocation on the part of the public, to which his efforts are fairly entitled.

The work is complete in one Octavo volume, comprising about 550 pages; and printed on superior paper, in clear type, and strongly bound.
