Dated 8 7.12.1962

Not to be folded or roughly handled carefully watched, and as soon as he was enabled to considered him of sound mind or not.

4. On the 27th idem, Acting Surgeon James Keess, M.D., in a letter informed me that he considered the prisoner Chenogadoo to be of unsound mind and incapable of making his defence, and he has deposed that he considers him of unsound mind and incapable of making his defence, and has also given his opinion that he does not believe that medicinal treatment would do him any good, that moral treatment and management might improve him, but would not cure him.

5. Under these circumstances I have under Section 389 of the Code of Criminal Procedure tried the fact of unsoundness of mind, given a special judgment that the accused is of unsound mind and incapable of making his defence have postponed the trial, and under Section 390 now report the same for the information and orders of Government.

The evidence recorded as to the fact of unsoundness of mind leads to the conclusion that he has been of long standing; and under the opinion given by the Medical Officer that he is likely to be cured, I would recommend his transfer to the Lunatic Asylum as there is no proper place in this Jail for his safe keeping, and he disturbs the whole place with his ravings both day and night as reported to me by the Jailor.

I may mention that from the Taluk record there can be very little doubt that the prisoner committed the crime with which he is charged.

Referred to the Principal Inspector General, Medical Department, for report whether there is room for the prisoner in the Lunatic Asylum.

7th November 1862.
