Your Despatch, dated 14th May (No. 24) 1863, forwarding, with your own remarks thereon, a List of Civil Servants on the Bengal establishment, who are eligible to the office of Judge of the High Court, has been considered by me in Council.

HOME DEPARTMENT.
JUDICIAL

TO THE RIGHT HONORABLE Sir CHARLES WOOD, Bart., G.C.B.,
Secretary of State for India.

SIR,

Referring to your Judicial Despatch, No. 45, dated June 17th, 1862, we have the honor herewith to forward the required list of Civil Servants on the Bengal establishment, who appear eligible to the office of Judge of the High Court. From the enclosed correspondence* you will observe that the preparation of this List has been retarded by the discussion of various doubts which have arisen as to the amount and duration of the judicial powers which candidates for the office must have previously exercised.

2. You will also probably notice that the information called for from the Governments of the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab was not received in such detailed fulness as might have been desired: these deficiencies have been made good in the present instance by reference to records at the Presidency, and for the future, we trust the instructions we are now issuing to the local Governments will enable us to transmit to you the annual list called for in the second paragraph of your letter under reply with punctuality and in a thoroughly reliable form.

Telegram to Government, Punjab, and Chief Commissioner of Oude, dated 18th February 1863.
From Secretary to Chief Commissioner of Oude, dated 20th February 1863.
From Government, Punjab, No. 126, dated 19th February 1863, and enclosure.

3. The first question we were called on to decide emanated from the Government of the North-Western Provinces, and had reference, as you will perceive, to the period during which a Judge might be absent from his judicial duties on leave, or on deputation to another appointment. We ruled that absence on privilege leave only should count as service in qualification for the High Court, and that absence on leave of any other kind, or on deputation to different employment, must be excluded from calculation.

4. The next question came from a Non-regulation Province. Mr. George Campbell, himself now on the Bench of the High Court, but then Judicial Commissioner of Oude, claimed on behalf of Deputy Commissioners that service in that grade should be held equivalent to service as a Judge in the Regulation Provinces. This claim we disallowed on the ground that Deputy Commissioners, though in their Civil jurisdiction they held powers co-ordinate with those of Civil Judges, had not the same powers as Session Judges in Criminal business, and on the whole, therefore, occupied a position inferior to the Judges of Regulation Zillahs.

5. Mr. Campbell then submitted that "at least Deputy Commissioners exercised all the "powers of Principal Sudder Ameens and a good deal more besides, and might therefore, be con-"sidered eligible to the High Court after five years' service." On this point we have as yet issued no decision. We are of opinion that, as a class, Deputy Commissioners in the Non-regulation Provinces, being empowered to decide original suits without any limit of amount, and also to hear appeals from the decisions of Assistant Commissioners and other inferior Civil Judges, must be regarded as holding office not inferior to that of Principal Sudder Ameen within the meaning of 24 and 25 Vic. Cap. 104, Section 11; and that consequently after a service of not less than five years they are eligible for appointment to the High Court, as belonging to the third class of persons mentioned in the said Section of the Act. But we entertain doubts, which we beg to refer for your decision, whether Covenanted Civil Servants, supposing them to have no other qualification, could be considered eligible, equally with other persons, on the ground of a five years' service in the grade of Deputy Commissioner. Separate provision for members of the [illegible] mentioned, in which they stand as a class by themselves (the second), and it may have been the intention of the Legislature that no member of the Covenanted Civil Service should be appointed a Judge of the High Court, who had not fulfilled the conditions, or who did not possess the qualifications, specially prescribed for his class by the Act. At the same time we observe that the word used in respect to the third class of those who are to be regarded as eligible for the High Court, viz., "persons," is a word of wide signification, and that its natural meaning does not appear in the present instance to be excluded by any of the ordinary rules for construing statutes. And, therefore, while entertaining a belief that the framers of the Act did intend to divide the persons qualified into four classes entirely independent of each other, we nevertheless consider that the appointment to the High Court of a Covenanted Civil Servant who had held in a Non-regulation Province a judicial office not inferior to that of a Principal Sudder Ameen, would not be illegal.

6. We desire likewise to call your attention to the fact that precisely the same point arises with regard to the first and second classes. Many Covenanted Civil Servants are being called to the Bar every year, and the question is whether, five years after being called, they are eligible to the High Court. Our view of the construction of the Act on this point corresponds with that which we have taken in reference to the second and third classes.

7. In the general list forwarded with this letter the names of the following Officers, being Deputy Commissioners and Barristers of five years' standing, have been provisionally entered;—Messrs. E. C. Bayley, P. H. Egerton, Ford, Cooper and Naesmyth, Deputy Commissioners in the Punjab; Mr. Capper, Deputy Commissioner in Oude; and Messrs. E. C. Bayley, W. M. Beaufort and J. F. Browne, Barristers.

8. The only point remaining to be noticed is Mr. Temple's inquiry whether the judicial powers vested in him as Officiating Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces might be admitted as equivalent for the purposes of qualification for the High Court, to the powers exercised by a Zillah Judge. For the reasons set forth in our Resolution in the Foreign Department, dated 13th February last, we have decided the question in the negative.
