The Board, having assembled and examined Joseph Freeman of the Mounted Police, found that, owing to the effects of an injury to the left elbow joint, the result of a fall from his horse while on duty, he is at present disabled for further service in the Mounted Police, but they do not consider that it is likely permanently to disable him for the use of his left arm.

No. 209. ORDER THEREON, 22nd February 1865, No. 298.

As the Board of Medical Officers who have examined Joseph Freeman, of the Mounted Police, do not consider that the accident he has met with is likely permanently to disable him, the Governor in Council does not feel himself warranted in sanctioning the grant of a pension, as proposed by the Commissioner of Police. He, accordingly, directs that the Board of Medical Officers who reported on the case will state for what period Joseph Freeman's inability to perform his duty is likely to continue. On being furnished with a certificate on this point, the Commissioner of Police will grant leave to Joseph Freeman, and will cause him to appear before a Board of Medical Officers at the expiration of his leave.
