I was at Home on sick leave, and I consider him to be a hard-working zealous public servant, anxious to gain a thorough knowledge of the duties of the Audit Department of this Office, to which he was posted last year, and one who does not spare himself when there is work to be done.

5. As I do not consider that his liabilities have arisen from extravagance, I have the honor to request that he may be permitted to resume his duties.

6. I hope I shall be pardoned for requesting that early orders may be passed upon this letter. My reasons for doing so are that next month of all others is the one during which I require every hand I can muster, as the books of establishments are received with the Pay bills for April, and the two have to be compared together with the old Registers before the bills can be passed, and one of my best Assistant Auditors has been summoned as a petty Juror on the Sessions commencing on the 2nd proximo. Government are also aware that I am simply in charge of this office without having been gazetted, and that, such being the case, I have been unable to appoint any one to act as Chief Assistant; so that, from the time of Mr. Lodwick's departure, the Senior Auditor, Mr. Vint, has in addition to his own work, which is by no means light, relieved me of a portion of my duties as Chief Assistant, while I have had the remaining portion of the Junior Officer's work to do, besides that of Civil Paymaster.

Mr. J. C. Morris, has been employed under me during the period I have been Civil Auditor since July 1840. I consider him a very intelligent young man, and highly satisfied with the manner in which he has performed his duties, and I therefore I think deserving of further encouragement in Office for his merit and economical in business.

I have reason to be satisfied with the work of this Clerk. I made him an Auditor as well as Superintendent valuable in the examination of

The beaver Mr. Brewster was an Auditor in the Civil Engineers Office under me and did his work, remarkably well. He is a deserving man - a little apt perhaps to be touchy but a very hard working good Government servant. He is intelligent and in my opinion deserving of promotion.
