Exd. J. Tulloch.

There is an obvious necessity for a Government subscription to any newspaper, but I doubt that such a step exists in regard to a law journal such as the "Madras Lawyer" seems to be.

If copies were taken, no one in the Govt. or Govt. Secretariat would be at the trouble of reading them with care & attention sufficient to render their perusal of any advantage to the State. But as the most important portions of the "M. Lawist" are likely to be the judgments of our own High Court, it should be remembered that these, when worthy of note, are published at the Public Cost, under the supervision of the High Court Reporter and may, if necessary, be brought into the Govt. Secretariat without any special order.

Forwarded to the "Madras Lawist" for the above reasons.
