G.O. No. 251	~~Press~~ Mis.
Dated 19. 2	1867.

Not to be folded or roughly handled

High Court House
Madras 4th Feb: 1861

From H. J. Brockman
Actg. Govt. Solicitor

To The Honble. A. J. Arbuthnot
Chief Secretary
Fort St. George.

Sir,
I have the honor to lay before you the following circumstances and to request that you will bring them under the favorable notice of The Right Honble. The Governor in Council.

2. For a period of six years down to the month of July last. I have been associated in business with Mr. J. R.
Boysen the Government Solicitor.

During that period I have frequently assisted him in the disposal of such Government work as required his attention and during his temporary absence from Madras ⁱⁿ since January 1860 I acted for him as Government Solicitor. In July last on the occasion of his going to England, ^{in place of} the Right Honble the Governor was pleased to appoint me as Acting Govt. Solicitor.

3. It has recently come to my knowledge

3-2020

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and dates, which appears to be a record of some kind. The names are written in a cursive script, and the dates are in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized into columns, with names in the first column and dates in the second column.

2. The second part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries. These are written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. The notes are written on a piece of paper that has been folded, and the handwriting is somewhat difficult to read.

3. The third part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries. These are written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. The notes are written on a piece of paper that has been folded, and the handwriting is somewhat difficult to read.

4. The fourth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries. These are written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. The notes are written on a piece of paper that has been folded, and the handwriting is somewhat difficult to read.

5. The fifth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes or entries. These are written in a cursive script and are organized into a list format. The notes are written on a piece of paper that has been folded, and the handwriting is somewhat difficult to read.
