It will be observed that the total number of crimes increased under every head, but the increase was in a great measure confined to the months of June, July, August, and September when the famine was at its height. During the last quarter the number of offences had returned to their normal average, or nearly so.

No. 256. ORDER THEREON, 25th May 1867, No. 855.

The Governor in Council learns with much satisfaction from the Comparative Statement submitted with the foregoing letter that crime very materially diminished in the District of Bellary as soon as the famine had abated. He also notices with satisfaction that the percentage of cases in which convictions were obtained was greater in 1866 than 1865.

2. The number of cases of "house-breaking," however, appears to have been higher in the last quarter of 1866, than in any of the quarters in 1865, or in that of the first quarter of 1866.
