CONFIDENTIAL.

From Lieutenant-Colonel C. S. HEARN, Inspector-General of Police, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 8th March 1877, No. 1095.

With reference to Clause 5, paragraph 2, of G.O., No. 17, dated 4th January 1877, I have the honor to state that I have consulted Colonel Davies, Acting Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Southern Range, and Captain Hole, the Superintendent of Police, Malabar, regarding the mark of approbation which the Government have expressed a wish to bestow on Inspector M. Ahmod Gurikul for his recent services in suppressing dacoity in Malabar. These officers concur in thinking that the most appropriate mark of approbation, and the one which would be most highly valued by M. Ahmod Gurikul himself, would be, that he should be invested with some honorary title of distinction such as that of "Bahadur." He has already received a sword, which was purchased from the reward granted by Government for his services in a fanatical murder case, vide G.O., No. 1550, dated 31st October 1865.

2. The Government are well acquainted with M. Ahmod Gurikul's services, and I have already brought to notice demi-officially his claims to some honorable distinction, so I need not again dilate upon the subject at length. Belonging to a highly influential Moplah family, not entirely unconnected with fanatical outbreaks in years gone by, M. Ahmod Gurikul has always used his ability and caste-authority on the side of Government, and has served the State loyally and zealously for twenty-one years. In dealing with the recent outbreak of dacoity he performed services which no other man in Malabar could have done, owing to the remarkable influence which he possesses amongst a large section of the Moplah population. Without favor or affection he brought his co-religionists to justice for their misdeeds against the peace of the district. M. Ahmod Gurikul is now nearly worn out in the service of Government, and will probably soon retire on a well-earned pension, but as long as he lives his influence will be most valuable to the cause of good order in Malabar, and I submit that it will be not only just but politic to confer upon him a distinction which may serve to bind him and his family as strongly as possible to the British Government.

3. And should the Government be pleased to obtain this distinction for M. Ahmod Gurikul, I would earnestly plead that a similar favor may be conferred on First-class Inspector Ali Dost Sahib, about whom also I have previously written. Ali Dost Sahib is directly descended from Chunda Sahib, of the former line of the Nawabs of the Carnatic. Ali Dost's father was so hostile in feeling to the British rule that he would not even allow his children to be taught the English language (a disadvantage which Ali Dost has in great measure overcome by his personal exertions and great natural abilities). Notwithstanding the traditional feeling of his family (which had been ousted in favor of the present Carnatic line) Ali Dost has served the Government faithfully and zealously for twenty-three years, and has attained the distinction of being considered the best Detective Inspector in the Madras Police Force. He has been selected for employment as special Dacoity Inspector in South Arcot with most useful results. He was also selected to be in close attendance on the Prince of Wales during the whole tour of His Royal Highness in this Presidency, a duty which involved much personal exertion and fatigue, and which was faithfully and zealously performed. For this service Ali Dost has as yet received no recognition. Ali Dost's services and abilities are so well known to the Government that I need say no more, except that if M. Ahmod Gurikul alone should receive a title of distinction, Ali Dost would perhaps have ground to consider himself passed over and neglected.

4. The two Chief Inspectors of the Bombay City Police have received the title of "Bahadur," and I observe that a similar distinction was conferred on several Police Inspectors of other Provinces on the recent occasion of the Imperial Proclamation at Delhi. I trust that the Madras Police Force, after seventeen years of working, may not be deemed unworthy to have a similar honor conferred on two of its members who have distinguished themselves by faithful and efficient service.
