ORDER. 24 Oct 1895, No. 2168

The Govt. regrets to find that the Police Administration Report for the year 1894 serves to confirm the adverse comments which were made upon the work of Messrs Prendergast and Stoddard in G.O. 8. 22nd September 1894, No. 2303. If their work does not improve, the Govt. will be compelled to call for a special report on the subject and in the event of their explanations proving unsatisfactory, it will be necessary to consider whether they should not be removed from the public service or reduced on the ground of continued inefficiency.

* decided action to mark the displeasure of Govt. should be taken.

Yes. This is quite enough

Note: This appears to be preferable. It is left rough and indicates clearly enough that of these amendments something other than amendments or another transfer will be the result.

Note

Note:— Of the other officers mentioned in G.O. 8. 22.9.94, No. 2303, Mr. Carmichael was on furlough throughout the year; Mr. Stevenson's work showed a marked improvement which has been noticed in the Review.

In the Dt. of Madras administered by Mr. Baudry, the percentage of detection in cognizable cases improved from 28.7 in 1893 to 33.1 in 1894.

2. This would have been submitted earlier but for the fact that the officer overlooked for a time my oral direction that the matter should be brought up as soon as the Police Review had issued.
