Sir,

With reference to the accompanying be good enough to quote the order of Government sanctioning the deputation to Madras of Police Inspectors and Constables for the purpose of learning Anthropometry.

I beg also that you will quote the order of Government sanctioning the deputation to Madras annually of Head Constables

SIR,

Enclosures.

With reference to your letter No. 1322, dated 23rd May 1895, I have the honor to state that it has not hitherto been the practice to obtain the sanction of Government when the Inspector General of Police has found it necessary to depute any subordinate on duty outside his jurisdiction, except in cases in which such deputation involved the appointment of a substitute (entailing extra cost) for the performance of the ordinary duty of the officer deputed. The authority for this practice is apparent in article 72 of the Civil Service Regulations. The practice of deputing Head Constables annually for the compilation of Criminal Statistics in this office has been in force for a long

57 & 58 of the present regulations

Long time and the reason for now requiring the sanction of Government for their deputation is not quoted in the letter under reference. I would however invite your attention to para 2 of the Inspector General of Police's letter recorded in G.O. No 933 F.D., dated 10 May 1883 wherein the number of Head Constables employed are specified and accepted by Government in sanctioning allowance for them, and would ask whether you still consider that the sanction of Government should be obtained for their deputation. These Head Constables who are employed in the District offices as Statistical Clerks perform the same kind of work while on duty in this office.

With regard to the officers brought in from Districts to learn the system of Anthropometrical measurements, I beg to state that the introduction of the system and the arrangements for working it in which is included the teaching of men brought in from Districts with this object have been approved of by Government in the correspondence ending with G.O.

No 2454, dated 9 October 1894⁶ F.D., I consider that the case of these men is covered by article 72 of the Civil Service Regulations. I am of opinion that they cannot be considered as "detached on special temporary duty for the performance of which there is no permanently or temporarily sanctioned appointment" falling under Article 94 Civil Service Regulations. Their presence was required in order to instruct them in their work and not for the performance of any special duty.
In these circumstances I solicit your further instructions on both the points.

To

The Inspector General of Police,

Sir,

Madras.

With reference to your letter, No. 2857 dated the 1st of June 1895, I have the honor to state that Government Order, No. 2454, dated 9 October 1894 Judicial Department regarding Anthropometry cannot be taken as sanctioning the practice of bringing Mofussil Police officers up to Madras to learn the system. I request therefore that you will be good enough to move Government to decide this training to be part of the duty of Police officers in which case I will accept your orders under Article 72 of the Civil Service Regulations.

54580/111
present order

The case of the Mofussil Madras Courts sent annually to Madras for the compilation of of Criminal Statistics is clearly one of deputation (Article 9 of the Civil Service Regulations) and I can find no order of Government specifically sanctioning the arrangement. In this case it will be sufficient if you obtain general orders from the Local Government to the effect that so many Constables may be yearly deputed (on the special duty mentioned) for a period not exceeding any specified number of days or months.

SIR,

Enclosures.

I have the honor to bring to the notice of Government that Head Constables from six or seven Districts are annually called in this office to assist in the compilation of Criminal statistics for the Administration Report and Government in its Order No. 4365 dated 2nd August 1889, F.D. sanctioned a conveyance allowance of 2 annas per diem or Rs 4¹/₂ per mensem during their stay in Madras. The Accountant General now requires separate sanction of Government for their deputation and states that a general order sanctioning the deputation of a fixed number of Head Constables for a specified period is sufficient. I therefore solicit that sanction of

13 of Government may be accorded for the deputation annually of seven Head Constables from the Mofussil for a period not exceeding five months.

2. The Accountant General also objects to the bringing in of Inspectors and Head Constables to Madras for the purpose of instructing them in anthropometry. On my inviting the Accountant General's attention to Article 72, Civil Service Regulations, that officer considers that the sanction of Government is necessary to regard the learning of the system of anthropometry as part of the duty of Police officers and I solicit that the required sanction may be accorded if the Government agrees with the Accountant General. For my part I consider there can be no question that the deputation of Constables to Madras to learn Anthro-pometry is covered by Article 72 of the Civil Service Regulations.

3. I enclose copy of the correspondence between the Accountant General and this office.

SUBJECT: 22/7/95

Requesting that sanction of Govt. may be accorded for the deputation annually of 7 Head Constables from the Mofussil for a period not exceeding 5 months to that office to assist in the compilation of Crim. Statistics for the Administration Report and to secure the necessary sanction to regard the learning of the system of Anthropometry as part of the duty of Police Officers.

Inspector General of Police

For orders

As to (i) whether general sanction may be accorded to the deputation annually of seven head constables from the mofussil for a period not exceeding five months, to assist in the compilation of Crim. Statistics for the Police Admin. Report?

(ii) Whether it may be declared, as desired by the A.G., that instruction in Anthropometry form part of the duty of Police officers? - 10/8/95

The Secy. General appears to be making a very unnecessary fuss about this matter. I end that it is a portion of the duty of a policeman to be whenever ordered by his superior officers.

ORDER 2 September 1895, No. 1825.

As requested by the I.C. of Police the general sanction of Govt. will be accorded to the annual deputation for a period not exceeding 5 months of 7 head constables from the mofussil to assist in the compilation of Criminal Statistics for the Police Administration Report.

2. The introduction of the system of Anthropometry for the purposes of the identification of the criminals has been sanctioned by Govt. and the working of it has been entrusted to the Police Dept. Under these circumstances it is clear that part of the duty of a policeman to undergo a course of training in the system whenever and wherever directed to do so by or by the authority of the I.C.
