To

His excellency the Governor of Madras May it please your excellency We the undermentioned most humbly beg your excellency to take a little deep Consideration in the following and we humbly beg further to excuse us for the trouble we give.

We are the most loyal subjects of Her majesty the Queen Empress enquired heartily in her majestys dominions. We had peace more than we anticipated But at present our condition is most miserable and wretched. May Shorff the Town Police Inspector of Nellore oppresses the subjects more than a Turk both in moral and other respects. He stands in the same level of with Saravari of Travancore. If your excellency relieves us from his hands by a transfer the Christians will consider you as their second saviour and the other people as their benefactor. he is a notorious man in the following respects:-

1. Bribery 2. Drunkenness 3. Debauchery
4. Partiality. Shown in public 5. Instigation of the public nuisance

6, unlawfully extracting things from others by threats. we believe your excellency will not take it as an offence if we explain the above mentioned points (1) as for bribery - if any theft case is informed to the Police, as the duty of a police man, he tries hard to bring the robber to the light. when he finds out the robber he goes to him secretly and demands a sum as much as he is able to pay. If he pays my short the matter will be hushed up in one corner. If not he charges the thief before the Court. The Town Station officer is hand in gloves with him in these matters. The Police Constables are against them both; but are afraid to come forward as they are their Superior officers. as a rule, he has one motto (ie) to put his signature to all the papers which come to him whatever the contents.
12, Drinking I am regard with his drinking, we are unable to expect another man to equal him. There will be no moment for him to be without liquor. when he goes to his office he will be under the influence of liquor and he pounces upon his subordinates for even a simple thing; and whatever he does is nothing but unjust. all righteousness sinks and all uprightness arise.

13) Debauchery Every man who resides at Nello hates him for this abominable crime from this, ^{ed} do not boast that we are virtuous. But there wint for everything. Mr. Shortt is a father many children. Several times he sends the Stat^e officer for young maidens. Several times he him went to the maiden's parents. More than once, he driven out from their houses. When a man refuses to send either his wife or his daughter, Mr. Shortt locks them in the Police Station unjustly bringing some case or other against them and thus punishes them without any justice; and for these unlawful and unjust cases, he compels the Police Constables to come as witnesses to give false oaths. Because, he is a Police Inspector, he dreams that he is at liberty to do whatever he likes, whether moral or immoral. But we know that India is under the enlightened British Government and not under a barbarian Government. So we have every right and authority to defend our properties. If this is not checked as earlier as possible, the whole Nello will come against Mr. Shortt.

4. Partiality shown in the public

If a quarrel or a fight takes place in the public road he generally arrests one party and not another.
The reason is, he may a friend of him or the son son of a friend from whom he can demand a large sum. Even in the very Police Department — if his friends — who supply gifts break any rules he is a partial to them as he is compelled to be so; because they know his weakness; and he nee^s reports these matters to the Sup

The Police officers but the Superintendent know that from the day My Shortt came to Nellore and as Police Inspector the town Police is going to be 15, Investigator of the Public nuisance

As he is a man addicted to liquors, which is already stated, there is no doubt for a man even to dream that he himself will be the cause for the Public nuisance. For this same reason he was sent out of Kurnool District town Police as the rumour goes. And it was not long ago, that he was drunk and rolling on the road one night at about 11.30 PM near the Post office. It was not long ago that he knocked against a single bullock cart after loading his stomach full well with liquor and got sprain and punished the bandyman for his carelessness.

b. unlawfully extracting things from others by threats.

It is a patent fact that a notorious man of this stamp will never remain quietly musing himself without stepping to the last stage. Old Robin Hood plundered the rich; and gave to the poor. But my Shortt plunders the poor and takes for him. he is not wise as Saravani of Travancore either to my hands or to credit the money in the bank. my Shortt spends his money for liquors and for adults. When a theft case (jewels worth Rs 500) came from the Nellore town, my Shortt after receiving sufficient money from the complainant; he threatened a supposed accused in such a terrible way that the poor supposed accused - in reality he was not paid him a certain sum.

After he came to know who the robber was, he threatened him also and shared more than three-fourths of the stolen property. And the matter was never brought before the Magistrates Court.

Now your excellency we have given a full detail about Mr. Shortt. Although, it is a very short time since Mr. Shortt came to Nellore, still he has done more grievances to the subjects. To redress all the grievances is ~~not~~ of question and it is a matter of impossibility. But we most humbly beg your excellency to rectify the grievances which Mr. Shortt has done to us by transferring him from this place, which kindness we will consider it as an act of charity. your excellency, the whole Nellore Hindus, Mohammedans as well as Christians have an eye upon him.

As to whether the petition may be transferred to the S.G. of Police?

Para II C applies; from internal evidence I should say the proceeds from a police constable. There may be some truth in which case it would be well to say

Transferred to the S.G. of Police
