The humble petition of Appeal for mercy of Convict No. 176, Mookkan, now in the District Jail at Madura under the Sentence of death passed upon him by the Sessions Judge Madura in Calendar Case No. 40 of 1895, the said sentence having been confirmed in his appeals to the High Court and the Madras Government.

Sheweth,

That, on coming to his house in a state of intoxication, the petitioner found Alaga Koravan, who had been cohabiting with his wife, come out and run on seeing him. He stabbed his wife and cut his own neck as he had then been stupified by the drink of toddy. He committed this act — (which was unintentional) under the influence of drink and under the excitement caused by the way she (his wife) then behaved towards him.

That the High Court and the Madras Government have confirmed the sentence of death passed on him.

That, at last, he beseeches
