The humble petition of Corvict N^o 992 Mukham Asari sentenced to 7 years Rigorous Imprisonment in Tanjore Sessions Case N^o 28 of 1894, most respectfully sheweth

That the case against petitioner is a false one and has been concocted by his enemies. the petitioner's paramour Sellam was charged as the second accused simply to give the case an air of probability and to prevent her from deposing in petitioner's defence. The first prosecution witness Madathi is the woman on whom the petitioner has been convicted of having committed rape. She is the daughter of a public ^{house} ~~house~~ in Ambasamudram who earned her livelihood by selling her person. Petitioner beg to shew that he could easily have had sexual intercourse with such a woman's daughter for a couple of rupees, if he ^{had} only intended it and he need not have gone to the length of forcing her to a union. The second accused Sellam could not have any motive whatever in abetting petitioner in the commission of rape. Petitioner had neither sexual intercourse with Madathi nor had he compelled her at any time to have any sexual intercourse with him; the second accused Sellam is ~~the~~ petitioner's ^{concubine} ~~keeping~~. She ~~was~~ originally ^{belonged to} ~~the~~ one Suppu Pillai but after a time left him as a ni to off viz Pongy unipen or am for the petitioner. On this account Suppur Pileai bore animosity towards petitioner and was trying in all directions to bring him into trouble and ruin him. Petitioner firmly believes that this case has been worked up against him by Suppur Pileai who took such an active interest in petitioner's conviction as to leave Ambass- mudram and come all the way to attend petitioner's trial at the Sessions Court and watch the conduct of the prosecution witnesses whom he had tutored. The deposition of Sellam the second accused, in the Sessions Court will clearly show how far the case is a worked up one.

The petitioner finally implores His Excellency in Council will be pleased to send for all the records connected with the case, and, after perusing them, order his release from the Jail in which he is now imprisoned under such an excessive sentence as seven years rigorous imprisonment.

(Signed) Mukkan Asari
