Proceedings of the Madras Government, Judicial Department, 14th December 1872.

No. 79. Read the following letter from Major W. S. DREVER, Acting Inspector General of Police, to the Secretary to Government, Fort St. George, dated Madras, 29th November 1872, No. 4115 :—

With reference to this office letter, No. 6172, of 23rd September 1870, to your address, from the Inspector-General of Police, intimating that the information regarding criminal statistics wanted by the Government of India would be furnished for the year 1872 in the Bengal Forms, I have the honour to report, after thoroughly going into the matter, that, until the present system of criminal registration is slightly modified and existing Magistrate's B Form, Police Ledger, and Annual Returns entirely remodelled, the Bengal Returns cannot possibly be accurately prepared. It will be attempted for the current year, but the returns will only be approximately correct. The fundamental difference in the forms adopted by the two Governments, though most fully realized by the Inspector-General in his letter,

No. 4951, of 30th July 1869,* before their introduction, appears to have been lost sight of after their adoption was ordered, the few columns added to the Madras Ledger by Major Hearn with a view to meet Bengal requirements having proved wholly insufficient.

2. The Bengal Forms A and B are intended to show the results of Police operations only; in fact they are but extracts from Police Crime Registers. The Madras Returns on the other hand not only give this information, but record every Magisterial and Judicial proceeding in criminal cases throughout the Presidency. The general principles and details of the two sets of forms are consequently so much at variance that no additions to the one could meet all the requirements of the other, nor could a double system of registration and reports be maintained in District Offices without increased establishment and cost a question which I scarcely thought it desirable to place before Government.

3. The only other course seemed, therefore, to be to accept the Bengal Forms and principles as far as necessary, and to recast the Madras Forms now in use in such a manner as would enable the Inspector-General to comply with the orders of both Governments :—

- (1.) With a minimum addition to work in District and Chief Office.
- (2.) Care being taken that no material information hitherto given in the Madras Returns was excluded.
- (3.) That such changes only be adopted as are essential.

4. This has now been most carefully done, and I have the honour to forward, herewith, draft forms of the changes proposed.

5. With so complicated a subject as a Return containing eighty-three columns, it is not easy to place before Government in a way likely to be understood the alterations in the forms which the introduction of the Bengal Return has necessitated; the accompanying memorandum, dated 18th October 1872, No. 3634, will throw some light on the matter. I will, therefore, only assure Government that the conditions laid down in paragraph 3 have been faithfully adhered to.

6. Although the Government of India Forms are not suited in all particulars to existing circumstances in Madras, their adoption will be found beneficial in some respects. One patent disadvantage must be, however, noted, viz., the impossibility for sometime, owing to the revised groupings and other changes, of drawing accurate comparisons in regard to certain classes of crime, &c., past and present; but, inasmuch as the most serious offences will still be separately registered, the loss will not be great, and must disappear in a few years as fresh data arise. In all other respects the forms are simple, but comprehensive as far as they go.

7. With one Financial Statement (F) excepted, the Bengal Returns appear to be all for the calendar year. "Cases and Persons" under trial on 31st December are accounted for in the following year; the Madras plan of delaying District Returns till all results for the year are known is thus avoided. This is in itself an improvement. The early despatch of the District Returns will enable the Inspector-General to place his Annual Report on the Criminal Statistics of the Presidency before Government in April or May instead of in September or October, and it may consequently take the place of various separate reports on special offences now submitted, not only separately, but re-quoted in the Administration Report and in the Criminal Statistics.

8. It will be seen that a most desirable change is effected by showing "Cases and persons" separately, every case and every person being distinctly accounted for. Cognizable and non-cognizable crime will also be kept apart, and not as hitherto lumped or only approximately shown separately when required. Bengal Forms F and G will replace eight Madras Returns, viz., Administration Report, Appendix III, IV, V, VI, VII, VIII, IX, and X.; but I will not further trouble Government with details, the results of which will be better tested after practical trial.

9. It remains for me to explain as far as I can the principles in which I have based the proposed changes of forms, so as to fulfil all the conditions laid down in paragraph 3:—

(i.) I have arranged the headings in the Ledger in such a way as to give every information required by both Governments in the most compact form possible, nothing hitherto reported being omitted, save as explained in paragraph 12.

(ii.) The Magisterial B Forms, which are the basis of the Ledger, have been so drawn as to make the columns thereof numerically correspond, as far as requisite, with those of the Ledger, thereby simplifying the transfer of figures from one form to the other.

(iii.) I propose to have the "District Return" an exact duplicate of the Ledger, whereby the preparation of the former will be much facilitated.

(iv.) Lastly, I would request permission to substitute, for the present Annual Return to Government, an exact duplicate of the revised District Return, whereby the additional work entailed in the Chief Office by the preparation of the double returns will be reduced, as far as practicable, to its minimum. Bengal Forms B, C, D, E, F, and G for the Presidency will also be compiled in the Chief Office from the District Returns.

10. Only those who have prepared the present yearly returns in the Chief and District Offices can realize the enormous detailed labour involved therein, and the introduction of the Government of India Forms must considerably add thereto; still I am hopeful that the principle adopted in the revised form of making each
