Proceedings of the Madras Government, Judicial Department, 6th April 1872.

No. 68. Read the following letter from the Under Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department (Finance), to the Officiating Chief Secretary to Government, Fort St. George, dated Fort William, 19th March 1872, No. 194-F:—

With reference to your letter, No. 1648, dated the 11th of December 1871, referring, for decision, the question whether the charges connected with the sending of European British subjects to the High Court at Madras, for trial for offences committed in the territory of a Native State, should be borne by the British Government or by the Government of the Native State in which the offence was committed, I am instructed to convey the opinion of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council that each particular case should be decided on its own merits, out of regard to a variety of circumstances, such as whether the prosecution is at the instance of the Native State, or of the British Government or its local representatives.

No. 69. ORDER THEREON, 6th April 1872, No. 478.

The reply of the Government of India directs that such cases be settled according to circumstances, some of which are suggested; but the present case, it is observed, does not come within them. It was a private prosecution for forgery.

2. To save references on every future occasion, the Governor in Council resolves to direct that the practice heretofore observed be uniformly followed, viz., for the Madras Government to defray the expenses of prosecutors and witnesses, and for the Native Government to defray the expenses on account of the accused.

From, Major Haukins

Superintendent of the European Prison
Botacamund

To, Colonel Wilson

Inspector General of Jails

Sir,

I have the honor to address you on the subject we were speaking of the other day, and which you kindly said you would again lay before Government. I allude to my undersigned's office of Superintendent of the European Jail, at this station.

2. The Jail, was, as you are aware, formerly under the control of the Civil and Sessions Judge; and, when made over, especially to the orders of Government in 1866, to the Joint Magistrate, it was a case of a much lighter description than they now are: the number of prisoners small (the average was about 8) and there was no manufacturing branch to supervise.

3. In 1868 "manufacturers" were introduced, which of course involved the introduction of the whole system of accounts, as kept in Central Jails, and a much closer scrutiny, and more time and labor on the part of the Superintendent became essential; this branch of industry has been steadily increasing during the current year: looms for the manufacture of prison clothing have been put up, and this description of work under constant supervision, and much care and thought.

4. The Jail is now full, or nearly so, and as diminution in the number of prisoners is not expected, owing to the practice which now prevails of sending military prisoners direct from their Regiments to the European Jail. I mention this to show that instead of 8 or 10 convicts (the average number undergoing their sentence in former years) I have now the supervision of 30 or 35 European Convicts.

5. Besides the European Jail, I am in charge of the District Native Jail, containing at the present moment, rather more than 100 Native Convicts; and for all this extra work, I get no allowance whatever, altho' the Chaplain, who attends to the spiritual wants of the European prisoners, and whose responsibilities cannot I imagine be compared with mine, draws 100 rupees a month, in addition to his pay as Chaplain of Botacammal. The Rev. Mr. James (the late Chaplain) has been the same ever since he assumed charge from Dr. Phipps, excepting for a few months, when Dr. Hadham was appointed to perform the duties. The Roman Catholic Priest, also draws a small allowance.

6. Government, under date 8th January 1841, No. 132, order that I am to be paid for the extra duties I have to perform, but I must respectfully urge that any staff salary, as Joint Magistrate - viz, 700 rupees a month, cannot be considered an excessive remuneration for the duties appertaining to that Office; further, I would observe that it was given for the performance of these duties alone, and before the Superintendentship of the European and Native Jail, was added to them, & further more that this emolument, is after all to be considered more in the shape of a personal allowance, than a staff salary, for Government have decided (G.O. No. 725 dated 17 May 1842) that I have no claims with, when on privilege leave. I would therefore very respectfully again urge any claims for some allowance, and will demonstrate any reasons for allowing them, as follows (1)

That, altho' when the Jail was landed over to the Joint Magistrate, and for some time subsequently, an additional allowance may not have been called for; now, and for some time past, on account of the large increase both in number of prisoners, and especially owing to the introduction of the manufacturing branch, entailing as it does, not only much extra work, but large pecuniary responsibilities on the Superintendent, the state of the case is entirely altered, and some remuneration for extra work and responsibility is fairly due; 12) That Government recognized the principle of giving some increase of pay for extra work, when similar services were appertained to the charge of District Jail, in addition to their other duties; 13) That the Chaplain who attends to the spiritual wants of the Protestant prisoners (about 1/2 the number only in the Jail - for the other 1/2 are Roman Catholics) gets 100 rupees a month in addition to his salary; 14) That the Joint Magistrate's allowance is almost nominal, and was given for that Office alone; for these reasons, & for others that may possibly occur, I trust that you will support my claim for some remuneration for attending to the Jail at Botacammal, and that Government will take your recommendation into their favorable consideration. &c.

Yours truly
J. H. M. M. M.
