of Government draft for the subject of ammunition.

For review

It may perhaps be desirable to specify in the regulations the period for which the rough books of ammunition proposed for stations should be procured (see Appendix D to the Police Manual)
It may also be added to Regs now 475 B. directing clerks of Police to examine these books during their tours of inspection & make the fact in their itineraries returns (P.O. no 21)

The point of the above suggestion seems unnecessary but this is a matter which appears to be of importance.

I have slightly altered the addition to Police Manual Rules - as it did not, in my opinion, state sufficiently clearly that the ammunition pouch of the constable should be examined at each stop as a matter of course.

Ammunition

Police Order No. 475 - An account will be kept of receipts and expenditure of ammunition at the Cuckoo Station of each Division by the Cuckoo Station House Officer under the orders of the Inspector. The Reserve of 1000 Rounds per Constable to be kept under Police Order No. 471 (a) being a fixed quantity, will not appear in the account. The account will be kept in the same form and manner as the Receipts and Expenditure Registers in the above Department. A rough book can be prepared, the draft being required only for
(1) Ball Cartridges, (2) Blank Cartridges, (3) Caps and (4) Revolver Cartridges. It must be written up from day to day whenever there are receipts or issues, and must be balanced when the Inspector's Quarterly Return is closed, when the balance in the book will, of course, correspond with that of the Practical Ammunition in the Return.
The following clause to be added to the above Order -

475B - Rough book showing receipts and
and

and expenditure. It is to be kept in all stations with the keys in all stations Ammunition will be under lock and key. The latter being in charge of the Station House Officer.
 Barrels containing ammunition should have strong iron staples and padlocks applied to them.

All ammunition issued for use must be carefully accounted for at the close of the day and the fact mentioned in the Station House Report.

Guards General Rules. Police Order 72 para 1 to be amended by the addition of the words in red ink.

A sentry shall be kept showing the number of each Constable on duty when and by whom he was posted and relieved;
 and

It should be signed before the sentry by Head Constable or Acting Head Constable at each posting and relief.
