Note by the Chief Engineer

P.W. Dept: —
No 761 D. dated 15 August 1895

Para 3 (d) of the Sanitary Commissioner's notes recorded with No 732 M of pt May 1895 refers to two points, namely the incompleteness of the casing of the filtered water reservoir, and the absence of means for automatically regulating the head of filtration.

2. With regard to the first point Mr Jones states that the "design is not and never was" as stated by the Sanitary Commissioner and the latter is therefore probably mistaken in his reading of the plan; if not, the filtered water should certainly be completely covered and kept in the dark, as proposed by him.

3. With regard to the second point I do not consider that any automatic apparatus for regulating the head of filtration is necessary or would repay its cost. Such regulation as is required can be accomplished by hand with quite enough efficiency for practical purposes and every much doubt whether any appreciable effect upon the purity of the water is produced by variation in the head of filtration; variation in the rate of delivery of the filtered water will of course be produced by this cause, and I do not quite understand why Mr Jones considers that the rate of filtration will not vary.

A. It is probably rather to prevent this variation than to improve the quality of the water that automatic regulating apparatus has been adopted in the very rare cases where it is used, and it does not seem to be necessary at Adoni.
