2. It will be seen from the report that the sanitary arrangements were pretty satisfactory. The council will see if they can provide additional temporary latrines and urinals next year as recommended by the reporter. Recommendation as regards the increase in the strength of the permanent conservancy establishment is out of place in the festival report as a temporary establishment is entertained for conservancy during the festival. The council will consider the question of increase when funds are available.

Report on the Adi festival, Srivilliputtur, for the year 1895.

District.	Name of reporter.	Name of festival.	Date of festival.	Number assembled.	Accommodation and sanitary arrangements made.	Water-supply.	Conservancy.	Epidemics.	General health.	Recommendations.	Remarks.
Tinnevely.	S. J. Mullens, Civil Apothecary, Srivilliputtur.	Adi Festival, Srivilliputtur.	From 17th July to 3rd August 1895	About 28,000.	Pilgrims who came from distant places took shelter in matams, chattrams and houses by some private arrangements and the rest from adjacent villages returned to their houses during nights, and so no special accommodations were needed. Sanitary arrangements were, on the whole, fair and I inspected the town twice a day.	The supply was chiefly from two tanks watched by three peons and also from about 250 public and private fresh-water wells scattered throughout the town, most of them having platforms and drains. Two water-purals were opened—one in Nachair North Mada Street and the other in North Car Street—in addition to the one which has been permanently kept in the Pennington Market by the Market Committee.	Four temporary latrines were added to the four permanent substantial ones, and two urinals were erected in addition to the two already existing. Five temporary sweepers and four latrine cleaners. Six sanitary peons were temporarily added to the permanent sanitary establishment of four peons under the supervision of one sanitary inspector. Streets were swept twice in the morning and once in the evening and the sweepings removed to the depot then and there. Night-soil was promptly carted and buried in pits at a distance from the town.	Nil.	Good.	My recommendations submitted with the last Ennakappa festival report regarding the provision of parapet walls, platforms and drains to some of the wells, the increase of the permanent conservancy staff by one-fourth and that of conservancy plant and the construction of four more latrines for the use of males, have not been attended to as yet, probably from want of funds. Four more temporary latrines and urinals should have been provided for during the festival and strict measures ought to be enforced to keep the backyards of private houses clean in future.	Taking into consideration the fact that this is the first festival supervised by this junior municipality, the arrangements, coupled with the promise to provide more liberally for conservancy next year, may be regarded as sufficiently satisfactory.

Recommendation

Remarks

Taking into consideration the fact that this is the first festival supervised by the Municipal Corporation, the arrangements completed with the Corporation for provide water supply for the conservancy must appear very satisfactory. It is hoped that sufficient water will be provided at sufficient intervals.
