FOR ORDERS.

~~I can't see why ~~private~~ persons shd. not burn bricks on their own land for their own use without a license. If they commit a nuisance thereby they can be proceeded against under the I.P.C.~~

B.S.
23/7/96

This case came up before and the application was rejected on the score of it being too late. The Governor made some remark which lead to the inference that he ~~[illegible]~~ did not see any reason to give control to Mul. Council over brick burning for private use where not a nuisance. Being personally interested in this question I do not consider that it would be right for me to offer any remarks on it.

I may however say that to the best of my recollection the Mul. Council when the dispute between Mr. [illegible] and it was going on passed a Resolution prohibiting all brickburning within Mul limits

If this is the case I do not see where the loss alleged comes in.

I did not call for a copy of the Order. No. 1285 Mun. d/ 3-8-96

Recorded.

2. The Govt. sees no reason why persons should not burn bricks on their own land for their own use without a license. If they cause a nuisance thereby they ~~should~~ can be ~~prosecuted~~ proceeded against under the Indian Penal Code (from orders)
