Sir

In reply to yours No 139 dated 30th March 1896 forwarding an extract from the Inspection Notes of the Sanitary Commissioner and asking me for a detailed statement of the Cholera attacks in this Institution. I beg to state that I have lived here now for more than 10 years and I can affirm that there have been no attacks from Cholera in this Institution during the whole of that time. Two years ago last December, when Cholera was bad all round, the little daughter of our Head Master who lives in our compound died from Cholera but that was distinctly proved to have been caused by eating a large quantity of sweetmeats and there were no other cases on these premises.

I beg also to say with regard to the remarks of the Sanitary Commissioner that there are paddy fields on one side of our compound only, at a distance of 111 feet from our well and they are not under cultivation more than once a year, and sometimes not so often as that as they are dependant for irrigation on a tank which only contains water after heavy rains. The well also is on a gher ground than the paddy fields & does not in the least vary whether the fields are under cultivation or not. Also the well is not a public one and is not used by the common people, but only by Europeans and a few of the Native gentry who have special leave to draw water and by the members of this Institution. The well is kept clean and well drawn, and the District Surgeon will confirm my words that though there are always large members in this Institution, the health of all is remarkably good.
