Extract from the Inspection Report of the the Bellary Cantonment by Captain H. L. Rosher offg. Station Staff Officer,
Bellary on the 28th day of November 1896.

+ + + +

General observations.

1. Bellary is entirely under the municipal Council and the Cantonment is one in name only.
2. The roads in the so called Cantonment are under the M. W. D. and are generally in fair order.
3. The houses themselves are generally in fairly good condition but in nearly every case the fences are disgraceful. In a few cases they consist of stone walls about 2 feet high, not sufficient to keep out cows and goats, but in the generality of cases they consist of a few clumps of aloe and prickly pear at considerable interval. The Cantonment thus presents a most untidy and neglected appearance and cattle wander thro' the the compounds rendering ^{it} quite impossible to improve their appearance by planting trees, shrubs etc as the cows and goats at once trample on and eat them down.

The municipality have this summer issued notices to landlords to remove prickly pear and provide proper fences but the result up to date is absolutely nil.

this current

The only method that has so far proved of any use is when a lease expires and the owner applies for a new one, to refuse to recommend it until he signs an agreement to erect a proper fence in the event of its being renewed.

In this manner one house owner has been made to erect a wire fence round his compound and several more are about to do so. Their new leases not being handed to them until the fences are actually completed to the satisfaction of the O/C Bellary.

This method is of course slow and it is to be hoped that Government will see their way to bringing bringing pressure on the Municipal Council to take serious notice of the present disgraceful state of affairs. Unless this is done I doubt whether beyond issuing notices the municipality will do any real good. The largest house owners are themselves members of the Municipal Council and are averse to spending money if they can help it.
