5th March 1897.

From Surgeon-Major-General C. SIBTHORPE, F.R.C.P.I., Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 6th March 1897, No. 118.

In returning your endorsement No. 546, dated 5th March 1897, I have the honour to state that in my letter No. 89, dated 23rd February 1897, I did not say that Civil Apothecary Green was entitled to free-furnished quarter or compensation in lieu, but recommended that he should be so provided. I have made this recommendation in the case of all medical subordinates deputed for plague duty, as it is most difficult, and in some cases impossible, for them to secure a house worth living in, and the denial of this concession is likely to interfere with the willing and efficient performance of their duties.

Order—No. 322, Public, dated 23rd March 1897.

The Surgeon-General's recommendation that civil apothecaries deputed to plague duty should be granted free quarters or compensation in lieu thereof cannot be accepted ; but if there is a house which the railway authorities are willing to lend, or a shed amongst those put up at an inspecting station, which the medical subordinate could occupy without causing inconvenience, there would be no objection to his doing so.

2. His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that a civil apothecary who is, under the orders of Government, deputed to a distance from the scene of his ordinary work to duty solely connected with the plague shall receive an allowance of Rs. 25 per mensem.
