Letter from the Resident in Mysore, to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, Camp No. 1, dated Shimoga, the 10th December 1897.

I have the honour to forward copy of a letter, No. 2484, dated the 13th ultimo, from the Government of India in the Home Department being a reply to a telegram in which I suggested that railways issuing tickets from plague-infected localities should mark all such tickets with a large red P.

2. The District Superintendent of Police, Civil and Military Station, Bangalore, who is in charge of the police on the Mysore State Railway from Yesvantpur to Dodkurugod and from Bangalore to Harihar, and on such portion of the Bangalore branch of the Madras Railway as lies within the Mysore State, has been instructed to issue orders to his men to consider all travellers from the Bombay Presidency as having come from an infected area, and should any passenger from that Presidency, in order to evade detection at his destination, alight at an immediate station within Mysore territory for the purpose of re-booking, his name and other particulars are to be telegraphed in the case of the Mysore State Railway to the Assistant Surgeon on plague duty at Yesvantpur, and in the case of the Madras Railway to the Residency Surgeon, Bangalore.

3. I shall be much obliged if the Madras Government will co-operate, by issuing orders to the effect that the police should telegraph the name and other particulars regarding any person who, having come from the Bombay Presidency, alights at any station in the Madras Presidency, and re-books thereat to any station in the Mysore State. In the case of a person re-booking to a station on the Mysore State Railway, the telegram should be sent to the Assistant Surgeon on plague duty, Yesvantpur; in the case of a person re-booking to a station within Mysore territory on the Madras Railway the telegram should be sent to the Residency Surgeon, Bangalore.

ENCLOSURE.

LETTER from J. P. HEWETT, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department (Sanitary), to the Resident in Mysore, dated Simla, the 13th November 1897, No. 2484.

I am directed to reply to your telegram, No. 4660, dated the 6th November 1897, in which you suggest that railways issuing tickets from plague-infected localities should mark all such tickets with a large red P.

2. The Government of India considered a proposal made by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for the issue of tickets of a distinctive colour at stations within the infected area in February last and decided that it was undesirable to adopt the suggestion as it would tend to encourage re-booking with a view to get rid of the distinctive ticket, the object of which would soon become generally known. Although travellers from infected areas have taken to re-booking, it seems to the Government of India that they would be still further encouraged to do so if they were given tickets of a distinctive colour. The Government of India moreover fear that the issue of distinctive tickets would not be of much use under existing conditions. The area in which plague at present exists in the Bombay Presidency extends from Palanpur in the north to Belgaum in the south, and as far inland as Sholapur; and it is prevalent in the States of Cutch, Baroda, and Palanpur and the districts of Kolaba, Nasik, Sholapur, Poona, Satara, Surat and Thana as well as the Presidency Town. This being the case the Government of India do not think it possible to distinguish travellers from infected localities within the Presidency from those who come from uninfected localities, and the Government of India consider that the only safe course is to regard all travellers from the Presidency as coming from the infected area. If the practice is followed it would add no additional security to require that persons travelling from particular places should be given coloured tickets.

3. The Government of Bengal have informed the Government of India that the East Indian Railway represent that booking from Bombay and the neighbourhood to stations beyond Khana has declined more than 50 per cent. owing to passengers from infected areas booking to stations on the Great Indian Peninsula and Bengal-Nagpur Railways and re-booking thence. A careful watch should be maintained at railway stations to prevent passengers from the Bombay Presidency evading detection at their destination by alighting at an intermediate station for the purpose of re-booking. If a passenger alights for this purpose his name and other necessary particulars should be telegraphed to the station to which he has re-booked in order that he may be detected on arrival. To prevent such passengers from evading detection by alighting at a station short of the station to which they have re-booked travellers should not be allowed to alight at stations other than those to which they have booked unless they can give a satisfactory reason for so doing.

4. I am also to forward for your information a copy of the following rule which has been framed by the Government of Bengal for preventing evasion of observation by re-booking :—

"In the event of a traveller from infected areas alighting at an intermediate station with the object of obtaining a fresh ticket so as to conceal the fact that he is a traveller from an infected area, the railway police will take down his name and the number of the fresh ticket issued, and will send information down the line so that he may, on alighting, be brought under observation."
