Plague

Copy of the Alu Taksildan's Arzi Ref. on C. No. 200 P to the Collector of Bellary 8.5.98

In continuation of my telegram of this date I beg to report as follows on the suspected plague case which occurred at Chippageri.

2. On the afternoon of the 7th September 1898 I received a report from the Station House officer Chippageri that a Romah woman named Latchumamma died of high fever on the 4th instant and another woman named Endige Yengamma died of the same kind of fever on the 6th idem having suffered from fever for 6 days in both cases. It was also reported that one member in each of the houses of the two deceased persons had a fresh attack. I proceeded with the other Medical officers last night to Chippageri and examined the two patients this morning.

3. From enquiries it was found that one Romati Bhagappa died of Colic and Fever at Chippageri about a month back. His Aunt (mother's sister) Chinna Laxmilamma had arrived from Kasepalli, a village in the Sooty taluk to condole her elder sister Pedda Latamiakke on the death of her son Chinna Laxmilamma who was about 50 years had an attack of fever on Monday the 29th August. And died of it on Saturday the 3rd instant having suffered for 6 days. Pedda Laxmilamma is about 60 years old. She had to bathe in cold water during the funerals of her deceased sister and it is said that this brought on head ache and fever on Tuesday the 6th instant and she is still suffering from the same. The patient is not bad. The fever seems to be of an ordinary type and there are in the opinion of the medical officer no symptoms of plague in the case.

4. As to the second case I beg to state that inquiries show that one Yengamma a woman of 50 of the Eadiga Caste had an attack of fever on Friday the 2nd September and died on the forenoon of the 6th idem on which date her son Nette Kallu age about 27 was also attacked with fever. Yengamma, while ailing, was removed from her residence to the Chavadi in the village gate as the house in which she was put up did not belong to her, and she died in the Chavadi. Her son Nette Kallu has also been removed to the said Chavadi where he is still lingering. The patient is delirious and irritable. He talks incoherently and looks like a drunken man. He is under the treatment of the Judicial officer who has expressed that this is a suspected case of plague. Steps have been taken to isolate the patient. The place where the deceased Yengamma and her son lived is in the heart of the village, and so also the Chavadi in the village gate. One Vankata Chari, a Sri Vaishnava Brahmin, and the deceased Yengamma were living in different compartments of the same house within one and the same enclosure. He had a small school in the porch of the house occupied by him. I have disbanded the schoolboys and segregated the members of Vankatachari's family. I have ascertained that neither Yengamma nor her son ever went to Guntakul and the suspected case is therefore supposed to be an indigenous one.
