Gazette 19/9/98.

Not yet. The question has been referred to the Sanitary Comr. for remarks in view to Govt of India being addressed if necessary. Raw hides, & untanned & fresh skins are included in the list of susceptible articles framed by the Venice Sanitary Convention, but the Govt of India has not prohibited their import, as animals generally are not susceptible to plague - vide Levy 13/9/98 page 51, Volume, 1898
