Cost of Plague Inspection Sheds at Railway Stations.

Stating that the ruling of the Government of India in letter No. 1375-G, dated 22nd May 1897, applies to detention sheds attached to plague inspection stations and not to inspection sheds erected on the railway platform.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.

Read—the following papers:—

From G. H. D. WALKER, Esq., Under Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department (General), to the Secretary to the Government of the Punjab, Home (Medical and Sanitary) Department, dated Simla, 22nd May 1897, No. 1375-G.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 730, dated 19th April 1897, in which inquiry is made as to who should bear the cost of the special native doctor appointed by the East Indian Railway authorities at the Umballa Cantonment railway station for the examination of passengers travelling by train, and of the temporary hut erected for the accommodation of detained travellers.

2. In reply, I am to state that it has been decided that any expenditure incurred by Railway Companies in providing sheds or other conveniences for detained travellers who may be found or suspected to be suffering from bubonic plague, is debitable to the Civil department. As regards the cost of the special native doctor referred to, I am to say that, while relying on Railway Companies for their cordial assistance so far as their regular medical or other staff can give it, it is considered that the cost of additional medical or other inspecting staff should, as in the case of the sheds, &c., be borne by the Civil department.

From LOUIS S. MOSS, Esq., Agent and Manager, Madras Railway Company, to the Consulting Engineer for Railways, dated 18th August 1898, No. 10095/764.

With reference to G.O., No. 804 P., of the 13th instant, directing the erection of a shed at the Arkonam railway station for the medical examination of passengers, the cost of which is to be borne by this company, I have the honour to inform you that instructions have been given for the work to be put in hand without delay. As the wishes of the Government of India have been acceded to in respect to the grant of free passes to the itinerant plague inspecting staff, I would ask that the orders contained in Government of India letter No. 1375-G, of the 22nd May 1897, received with your endorsement No. 1858, dated the 3rd June 1897, may not be overlooked and that the cost of erecting the shed will be refunded to the company. Such charges would appear from the letter above referred to to be debitable to the Civil department.

The Government is of opinion that the ruling contained in Government of India letter No. 1375-G, dated 22nd May 1897, applies to detention sheds attached to plague inspection stations and not to inspection sheds ordered to be erected on or near the railway platform because there are no proper facilities in the station buildings for the medical examination of railway passengers. The former kind of shed, viz., "for detained passengers" (vide Government of India letter), has always heretofore been debited to Local Funds and in no case has a Railway Administration been called upon to pay for it.
