SUBJECT.

The Government considers that the practice of burying night soil in the compounds of houses, however extensive the compounds may be, is most objectionable. In the interests, therefore, of the health of the house-owners and of the general public, the Municipal Council should endeavour to put an end to this practice, the surest means to this end being, as observed by the Chairman, the extension of the private scavenging system. The difficulty mentioned in para. 2 of the Chairman's letter can be overcome by arranging for

To

The Secretary to the Government of Madras

Local and Municipal Department.

Sir,

In the annual sanitary report of the station of Cannanore for 1897, it is brought to notice that night soil is frequently buried in private compounds, and as this is a very undesirable practice which should not be allowed to be continued, His Excellency the Lieutenant-Genl. Commanding the Forces would be glad if Government would bring pressure to bear upon the Municipality to put a stop to it.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Through the Collector of Malabar

Sir,

With regards to Reference no. 531 dated 3rd May 1898, I have the honour to inform you, that it would not be possible all at once to put a stop to the practice of burying night soil in private compounds.

2 Unlike towns in other districts, the houses in this Municipality are, as in other parts of the district, mostly situated in isolated compounds, many of which are inaccessible to carts, being situated a long way off from public roads.

3 The remedy for the existing condition of things at present is to extend the private scavenging system which would require a large outlay quite disproportionate to the income derivable therefrom. This is impracticable in the present state of the municipality and may be hoped to be achieved only gradually. The scale of fees as now fixed by the Council
