My dear Freeman Lewis -

I return the file you gave me - Our Railway Police are virtually complete as far as the subordinates are concerned, but supervision is almost absent - We have one Inspector only for each line & the D.I.Gs. The latter of course are known even on the line - The M. Ry. Inspector a very sharp fellow told me yesterday that he thought if given a special Travelling Inspector merely to go up & down visiting & warning the platform Constables of plague duties - it would be a good thing

This proposal will come in in a day or two & then we shall see - I have no doubt that our Platform orderlies have much more intelligence than those of other Presidencies & if they get a little more supervision they will do well enough I think for plague work.

From six stations on the M. Ry Constables have been taken away for camp duty at Arconam. These men will go back to their stations & other men must be found for Arconam - This will be done -

On the whole in answer to the Hon'ble Members' note I would say that if we get a special additional Inspector for the M. Ry & the East Coast I think the arrangements will be as efficient as they can be - For the S. I. Rail it does not do much matter as the Bangalore Police Supt. Chokka Iyengar manages things very well.

SIR,

ENCLOSURES
Two

With reference to G. O. R.No.280 Judicial, dated 22nd February 1898, I have the honour to state that platform constables are employed at almost all the stations on the railway lines in this Presidency and that they have been directed to take down the names and addresses of passengers from the Bombay Presidency and communicate them as required by regulation No.17 under the Epidemic Diseases Act. At five minor stations on the Madras line and eight stations on the Southern Mahratta Railway and East Coast lines there is no policeman now. Passengers from Bombay will be numerous only at stations on the North-West of the Presidency and at places like Tirupati, Conjeeveram, Chidambaram, Trichinopoly(for Srirangam) &c., which are held sacred and visited by pilgrims in large numbers. I enclose a list (A) of stations and the additional strength recommended for them. The strength asked for is 41 constables and I propose to draft this number at the rate of two or three constables from each district to work temporarily with the Railway Police.

2. As regards the inspecting staff, the Deputy Inspectors-General recommend the appointment of a few

Head Constables to travel on allotted portions of railway and see that the platform constables do their work properly. I have slightly modified their proposals and I enclose a list marked (B) of the additional men required. These men also can be obtained from the district staff as a temporary measure.

ENCLOSURES.

I have the honour to submit a statement showing the passes required for the Police to be employed on inspection duty on railways, which I omitted to forward with my letter No. 818, dated 26th February 1898. The number of passes required is briefly noted in list B appended to that letter but the statement, herewith, clearly shows what class of passes is required and between what stations on each railway. I request that each pass may be made available for use by any police officer travelling in uniform.

My dear Tremenheere,

I return Hammick's D.O. of 23rd February. I remain of the opinion that an Inspector is not necessary if the Govt. sanctions the staff of Head Constables which I asked for. As I told you in my previous letter, none of the D.I.G's asked for an Inspector. Possibly Hammick contemplated one Inspector instead of a number of Head Constables, but I think that there can be no doubt that the latter would exercise more thorough supervision, for one man could do very little. Moreover the Inspector would be under two D.I.G's, an arrangement which would lead to much confusion, I fear. There is no record of Inspector Jey Singh having made any proposals officially and when I discussed the matter with him the other day he told me that he was quite content with the staff which I had proposed.

I return Hammick's letter.

Yours sincerely

H A Blunt
