Order. No. 324 Lins 8 28/2/98

Ref on 6 No. 265 28 2/97

The Government considers that the small income of Rs. 250 expected from the levy of house tax in the proposed union is not sufficient for carrying out any appreciable improvement in the sanitation of the villages constituting it, without a contribution from the Taluk funds.

As it is not equitable that the funds realised from the general body of the ratepayers should be spent for the benefit of a small section of the people residing in a union, the constitution of the proposed union cannot be approved, unless it is proposed to levy house-tax at the maximum rates, so as to make the union self-supporting.
