There are no sanitary objections to this compound or hospital - both will, however, require adaptation for their intended purpose. The Buckingham Mill Manager represented some whilst inspecting that the proximity of this hospital to the Mills would be productive of panic in the midst of the 6000 employees. I assured him that sanitarily the employees incurred no danger, and that if he feared the effects of panic the Plague Commissioner would no doubt, on its being ^{H.S.} presented to him, consider the
