From Surgeon-Major-General C. SIBTHORPE, C.B., F.R.C.P.I., Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government (through the Accountant-General), dated Madras, 2nd February 1898, No. 115.

With reference to paragraph 2 of letter, No. 765, Public, dated the 17th June 1897, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department, embodied in G.O., No. 997, Public, dated the 27th July 1897, I have the honour to request that Government will be pleased to sanction the deputation allowance of As. 8 per diem sanctioned in G.O., No. 797 M., dated the 5th April 1897, to hospital assistants who actually attend plague patients and thereby incur personal risk.

2. The medical officer on plague duty at Arkonam having raised the question, the Accountant-General states that a higher rate of allowance than that authorised in G.O., No. 997, Public, dated 27th July 1897, cannot be given without the special sanction of Government.

No. 467.

Forwarded to Government.

2. The grant of a deputation allowance of As. 8 per diem to hospital assistants employed on plague duty has already been authorized by the Government of India. This was subsequently restricted to a monthly allowance of Rs. 10 on the ground that the plague duty of hospital assistants in this Presidency consisted in merely examining passengers, &c., at inspection stations for possible cases of plague. As the present recommendation of the Surgeon-General relates to cases of hospital assistants who attend plague patients and thereby incur personal risk, there is no objection to Government sanctioning it if it deems fit to do so.
