Madras, No.14175, dated 15th December 1898.

In submitting the enclosed letter from the Sanitary Commissioner for Madras, No.2901/S, dated 23th ultimo, I have the honour to state that his proposal for the delivery in future of a course of lectures on the Elements of Physiology to the Sanitary Inspectors' class of the Medical College commends itself both to the Principal of the College and to me. It is of course impossible for the lectures to be delivered from the 15th instant, as contemplated by Lieutenant-Colonel King, as the College closes for the Christmas vacation on the 16th instant and as all intending candidates for admission to the Sanitary Inspectors' class have already been informed that the course will commence on the 3rd January 1899. Arrangements can, however, be made for the delivery of the lectures on Physiology from January next by the Assistant to the Professor of Medicine, who is a medical graduate of the grade of Assistant Surgeon and who is well fitted for the work, having successfully ^{taught} ~~taught~~ the subject for years to the Hospital Assistant class.

2. The honorarium proposed for the above lecturer, viz,
Rs.200 is reasonable and may be met from the provision of Rs.
3100 made in the current year's budget for the honoraria to the Lecturers on General Biology and Physics, in which a saving of Rs. 400 is expected to accrue on account of the appointment of Dr. A.G. Bourne to the former lectureship on an allowance of Rs. 1000 only per course instead of on a salary of Rs. 200 monthly sanctioned for his predecessor. I beg to add that the Sanitary Inspectors' class will prove a source of profit to Government, as the free income for the current year is expected to amount to not less than Rs. 2500, while the cost will not exceed a moiety of the above sum. Provision will be made for the extra charge in future budgets of the Medical College.

Copy of letter from
No. 2901/S, dated 28th November 1900

In January, the class of Sanitary Inspectors again opens the usual three months. Up to the certificate of Sanitary Inspector in theoretical and practical Hygiene considerably to their power of which they are subjected, were the elements of physiology.

2. The fee for the three months' course is Rs. 30. They also pay Rs. 100 for the practical course. Although at the commencement of the course, the Government allowed training free, on the ground that Sanitary Inspectors in the employ of Government for periods over five years, the members of the course, pay for their course. T. Hygiene obtains Rs. 700 for the 40 lectures. The practical course costs Government nothing as work has been conducted by myself, aided, as Deputy Sanitary Commissioner. There will be in filling the class this year, as applications are of such number as to threaten to fill the class. This will mean practically 100 candidates. It is unlikely that more than six of the total be students.

3. Under the above circumstances, as it is the class is a source of gain and not of loss to the Government, I have the honour to suggest it will be pleased to the delivery of ten lectures on physiology at Rs. 200. I understand that the Professor of Physiology is willing to undertake the course, if it be given in December, but would decline, if at any later date.
