With reference to the enclosed copy of a report from the District Traffic Superintendent, Arkonam, I have the honour to request that you will be good enough to move Government to issue such orders as will ensure the station staff being allowed proper facilities for the checking and collection of tickets.

ENCLOSURE.

COPY of a report from the District Traffic Superintendent, Arkonam, dated 29th June 1899.
[Plague Examination at Arkonam.]

The travelling ticket inspector reports that the plague inspection staff would not allow an examination of the tickets of a number of passengers who arrived by No. 8 Mixed Train at Arkonam on the 5th instant before removal to the plague inspection shed, nor was a count permitted and that when the staff went to examine the passengers in the train they found only seven.

I have represented the matter to the medical officer on plague duty and requested that when passengers are taken from the train to the plague shed their tickets shall be handed over to the ticket-collecting staff before they are taken away from the trains in order that a proper check may be maintained. The medical officer replies that it is impossible to hand over the tickets to the ticket-collectors before issuing passports as this would be in contravention of an order from his District Collector. This system, or rather want of system, is giving great facility for fraud, and I beg to request that the matter may be represented and some opportunity given to the railway staff to check the tickets of all passengers before they are removed from the train.

You will easily understand that to allow a number of passengers with their tickets into the possession of those over whom we have no control and who have no interest whatever in the Railway Company is very likely to give rise to misuse of such tickets.

We do all we can to assist and give facilities for the examination of passengers and our ticket-collectors are not allowed to interfere with the trains until after the plague examination work has been completed. We must, however, insist on such a system being adopted by the plague staff as will protect our interest and not to offer undue facility for fraud.
