Letter from the President, Municipal Commission Madras, dated 22nd November 1899, H.N. 1196.

I have the honor to call your attention to the fact that while about 4.5% of persons who take out plague passports at Perambur Station cannot afterwards be traced in the City, 23.8% of persons whose arrival from an infected area is notified by the reception of Mofussil C passport forms by post, are not again heard of, and can be found by neither the plague staff nor the police. This is hardly to be wondered at when "Chintadripet, Madras", "Black Town, Madras", and other vague addresses such as these are not infrequently given by the Mofussil passport writers. I beg that attention be once more called to this point, that unless the address on a passport is very full and definite the document is useless as a guide to his whereabouts, if the holder does not voluntarily present himself for observation.

Order No. 1702.P. Mis. dated 28th November 1899.

Communicated to all Collectors. The attention of the passport issuing officers should be drawn to the necessity of recording full particulars of address in the passports, in order that the holders thereof can be easily traced.

(True Extract.)

Respectfully.
