Letter No. 89 (General) dated 21st January 1899 from the District Medical and Sanitary Officer, Kolar, to the Deputy Commissioner, Kolar District.

With reference to your No. 1043 dated 17th instant, I have the honor to inform that immediately on the receipt of your letter, I left Kolar and reached Kolladasapuram with the Amildar of Malur Taluk on the morning of the 20th instant. Kolladasapuram is a small village containing about 20 houses and a population of about 80 people. It is kept fairly clean. On making enquiries we were informed that at the beginning of December 1898, a girl was brought from Janguvadi by her mother and another female relation to their own house at Kolladasapuram. The mother of the deceased says that her daughter was healthy when she left Janguvadi and that there was no plague at the time in that place

And that another daughter is still at Janzradi. The deceased is said to have become ill eight days after their arrival, and died after an illness of about six days. She was said to be subject to attacks of Asthma. A few days before her death she had slight fever and difficulty of breathing and was also a little delirious. She died on the 25th Ultimo. On the 26th Bagalur Circle Inspector seems to have come to Kolladasapuram for making inquiries as to the cause of death, as there were some deaths from Plague at Janzradi at the same time. As the villagers seem to have refused to disinfect the house in which the girl had died, as they did not think it to be a case of Plague, the Circle Inspector seems to have reported to his Official Superiors that he had disinfected the house and Segregated her relations as he suspected it to be a case of Plague. The nearest relations of the deceased are all doing well. There has not been a single case of Plague or death from any other cause in the village since the death of the girl - i.e. from the 25th Ultimo. As a precaution, I got a portion of the house disinfected. The whole house seems to have been white-washed during the Pongal festival. The village was ordered to be cleaned. People were asked not to allow persons to come into their village from infested areas and they were also ordered not to go to other villages for some time. A Police Constable was ordered to remain in the village for some days to see that the above suggestions are carried out. The Village Pottail was ordered to send a daily report as to the state of the health of the village to the Taluk Amildar who will send the Hospital Assistant of Malur whenever necessary.
Case

Letter No. 231 dated $\frac{24}{27}$ th January 1899 from the Deputy Commissioner Kolar District, to the Plague Commissioner Mysore.

With reference to your No. 5849 of the 12th instant forwarding copy of letter No.
317P. dated 11th idem, with its enclosures received from the Assistant to the Resident, suggesting to take steps for arresting the spread of Plague in the British villages, I have the honor to forward copy of the District Assistant Surgeon's letter no. 89 dated 21st instant and to state that the undersigned sees no necessity for handing the village of Kolladasapuram referred to in the correspondence over to the British Authorities for Plague purposes since all the precautionary measures have been taken here.
